CITY TO ENLARGE LIGHT PLANT AT ESTIMATED COST OF $30,000

City Council Finds That the Only
Way Out of the Electric Plant
Problem is to Enlarge

WILL BUILD AN ANNEX

Present Building Will Not Accomodate New Machinery And an Addition Will be Built.

POWER TO BE DOUBLED

New Machinery Will Change the
Current From a Condensing to a Non-Condensing Form.

The city council spent most of its time last night discussing the City Water, Light and Power Plant, which has been hanging fire for several weeks, and action was taken which will mean the building of an annex to the local plant, and the purchasing of additional machinery which will double the voltage of the plant, giving part of the machinery a rest instead of using all of it under a strain. The approximated cost of the new building and equipment will be in the neighborhood of $30,000.

A few weeks ago the council advertised for bids for electric current to be placed at the switch board in the plant, thinking that if some outside company would furnish the current to be used when the local equipment was not strong enough to supply the demand, but at the specified time for receiving bids, none were submitted, and the only thing to be done now is to enlarge the present equipment, and it was decided last night that the current voltage will be doubled.

A couple of months ago a committee from the council were to investigate the cost of advisability of building an addition, and when submitted to the council, it was thought that it would be too large an undertaking, as the expense could not be met with, but now the drain is so severe on the equipment, that danger of a break down is in sight, if it is continued to be used 24 hours a day, and seven days in the week.

An electrician was present and advanced his views about the situation. He pointed out to the council that by changing the current from a condensing form to a non-condensing current, and installing equipment which will double the present voltage, it would give the equipment a rest from time to time, and would balance by units. By changing to a non-condensing current, $15,000 can be saved on the cost.

He stated that any electric plant should be made up of units, equally balanced, and that the local plant was now made up of two units, but they were being worked all of the time, with nothing in reserve. By the addition of one large unit, it would balance with the two units now in use, and the plant would consist practically of four units, using only two units at a time, keeping the other two in reserve.

The electrician estimated that the cost of machinery to generate the electric current, would be in the approximate figures of $21,000. He had prepared a contract which was adopted by the council, wherein all of the expense of labor and setting up of machinery was to be borne by the contracting company, and payment for the job was to be made in three payments, 50 percent with order, 30 percent upon receipt of the machinery and 20 percent after completion of the installation. A thousand dollars was to be kept out by the city for a period of one year, after the acceptance of the job, in order that the contracting company would fulfill any obligation which

City Council Engages in a Busy Session

Joe Williamson Appointed Fire
Chief to Succeed Walter Easley
—on Duty All the Time.

HEALTH INSPECTOR NAMED.

The city council which was in regular session last night spent a busy evening, most of the evening being taken up with the discussion of the City Water, Light and Power plant, but in between times something else would come up, and the session was considered by all as a very busy one.

Fire Chief Walter F. Easley sent in his resignation, and as it was looked forward to by the fire committee, a proposition was advanced by Councilman Wagoner which resulted in the appointment by Mayor Irvin of Joe Williamson as fire chief, and the council hired him as a fireman, making the fire chief a paid member of the company, whose duty it is to remain at the fire station. Mr. Williamson was present and meansaccepted the proposition, which means that he is to get pay as a fireman, and the annual salary of the fire chief.

The fire department now has four paid men at the station, and Mr. Williamson took up his new duties today. He will be remembered as being on the fire department, up until about a year and a half ago, when he left for the east, and during his stay on the department was a fireman for eight years. He is highly qualified for the position and during his stay at the station before, things were kept remarkably clean and his services were very satisfactory to the council.

A question arose about an open ditch which runs by the power house, east and west, and then south by the alley between Julian and Perkins street. It was stated at the council that the traction company would help in the closing of the ditch, as it is detrimental to the I. & C. car barns, and is an unsanitary thing to have in the city limits. The sewer committee was asked to look into the matter of closing the ditch.

DELANCY MAHAN, BORN 79 YEARS AGO DIES

Former Citizen of This County Expires Suddenly at His Home in Shelbyville.

IS KNOWN AND RELATED HERE.

Word has been received here by relatives of the death of Delancy Mahan, aged 79 years, which occurred yesterday afternoon at his home in Shelbyville. He was born in this county but has been a resident of Shelbyville for the past twenty-five years. The death comes as a shock to his many relatives and friends in this county as he became ill at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning and died two hours later.

He leaves his widow and seven children. Will and Ben, of Shelbyville, Miss Alta Mahan, also of Shelbyville. Mrs. Wendling and Mrs. George Hardesty, of this county; Mrs. Gertie Barngrover, of Shelbyville; and Mrs. Nettie McKay, of Oakland, Cal. His brothers, who survive are Sam Mahan and Martin Mahan, of this county and Jerome, of Newcastle. The funeral services have not yet been arranged.

DECLARES THAT HE SCHOOL FACULTY WAS IN MEXICO IS NOW COMPLETE

General Garza, Commander of Mexican Forces, Says That he Shot
Captain McNabb for Intruding

TEXAN SAW THE PLANE

Washington May Drop The Case as
There is no International Law
Governing Flying.

Laredo, Texas, Sept. 3—Captain David McNabb was across the border flying over Mexican territory when shot by Mexican soldiers. General Garza, commander of Mexican forces near Nuevo, Laredo, declared today.

General Garza's statement declaring that immediately on learning of the incident, the general proceeded at once to the spot where the shooting occurred. The soldiers of the out-post admitted the shooting declaring the aviators were on Mexican soil.

The commander of the out-post was absent at the time. The Mexican soldiers said, according to General Garza, that they had received many complaints of aviators flying over Mexican soil.

Garza protested against Americans flying over Mexican soil. He said it had been reported that the aviators were flying over the Mexican territory taking photographs.

B. J. Leyendecker, county tax assessor of Webb county, who was on his farm 16 miles north-west of Laredo when Captain McNabb landed and heard the shooting, told the United Press here today that he could furnish evidence by several witnesses that the Americans were not on the Mexican side of the border.

He said that these witnesses would declare the Mexicans fired scores of shots from the Mexican side and that the planes lifted immediately and started to the ranch house.

Captain McNabb is resting easy today and the wound in his head is not though serious.

Action May be Dropped.

Washington, Sept. 3—Doubt was expressed by high officials here as to whether this government is in the position to take any action against Mexico if it is found that Captain McNabb and his pilot was flying over Mexican soil.

Unofficial reports from Laredo said that Mexican officials declared that this was the case.

While there is no international law governing flying, it was the custom in European countries before the war to fire upon foreign aviators who crossed an international border without permission. This was on the account of the constant fear of spies.

AUTOMOBILE TURNS OVER

Six People Hurt in Accident Near
Rays Crossing

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 3—Six persons were injured in an automobile accident near Rays Crossing, when a car driven by Charles Fetting of Indianapolis upset on the Shelbyville-Rushville road. In the car with Mr. Fetting were his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Good and daughters Maud and Marie, all of Indianapolis. All the occupants were bruised and stunned. Miss Maud Good's left ear was nearly cut off. Six stitches were required to sew the ear on. The car turned over when the wheels struck some fresh gravel and then landed on its wheels again.

The party was on their way to the home of Martin Good, brother of Joseph Good, who lives in the vicinity of Manilla.

WILSON LEAVES ON TAXABLES RAISED SPEAKING TOUR OVER 16 MILLION

Will Speak in Indianapolis Tomorrow Night in The Coliseum at Fair Grounds.

NO DEFINITE SPEECH.

Senator Watson Breaks up Plan of Anti-Leagues to Start on a
Speaking Tour.

Washington, Sept. 3—President Wilson leaves Washington this afternoon on his 10,000 mile speaking tour of the United States in an effort to convince the people that the peace treaty should be ratified as it stands.

The first stop for a speech is scheduled at Columbus, O., Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, after which he leaves on the Pennsylvania for Indianapolis. He will arrive in Indianapolis at six tomorrow evening and will speak at the coliseum on the fair grounds at eight o'clock.

He will try to solidify public opinion in favor of the treaty so that pressure will be brought to bear on opposing senators from their home territories in order to change their attitudes.

In an effort to cause irresistible demands for quick ratification, the president, it was learned today, will make bold statements of what he considers the facts in a popular oratorical way.

One of Wilson's principal arguments for ratification is expected to be that the industrial unrest and the present high prices cannot end until real peace is established through acceptance of the treaty.

Senator Watson, it was learned today, was one of those who broke up the plan of anti-league Democratic and Republican senators to follow up the President with anti-league speeches. Senator Reed, democrat, was among the anti-leaguers who was anxious that a special train carrying anti-league senators be sent across the country. Senator Watson, however, regarded this as an extremely bad move and he put his foot down on it hard. He considered that any such plan as this would cause merely a contest between the President and the Senate and besides he realized that the President with the immense prestige of his office, always could draw a much bigger crowd than any senator could hope to attract, and that the President's speeches would be more widely printed than that of any other person.

DROPS SUIT AGAINST PAPER

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 3—The $10,000 damage suit of Elisha Wiley against the Democrat Publishing Company of Greensburg was dismissed in the circuit Court here today for lack of prosecution. The case follows the publication of an article in a recent political campaign in Decatur County.

NO COURT HELD TODAY

Cases Set for Today and Tomorrow
Struck Off Docket.

Circuit court was dark today, and the outlook for tomorrow was also to be dark, as the cases set for these two days were marked off the docket this morning, and the jury was dismissed, to be called again when needed. Judge Sparks remarked this morning that in all probability, there would be no jury cases tried this week, unless it would be the case set for Friday, which is the case of Schattner vs. Hall. The case set for today, the State vs. Naden, was struck off the docket.

With State Board Increases Added,
Assessments of Rush County Now
Total $68,712,195.

TRIPLED OVER LAST YEAR

Tax Rate Should Not be Over Third
of This Years Providing No More
Revenue is Raised.

The increases in assessments of Rush county property of all classes, put on by the state board of tax commissioners last week, amounted to $16,048,975, according to figures compiled at the county auditor's office, which show that Rush county people will pay taxes next year on property valued at $69,712,195, less the mortgage exemptions, as compared with a valuation this year of $23,263,795.

The increase in taxables this year, under the new law, amounts to $46,448,400. Last year's appraisements lack but $79,190 of being tripled this year; in fact, probably are tripled with the mortgage exemptions added to this year's assessments. They are not shown on the sheet just prepared in the auditor's office. It is apparent that in the light of these figures, the tax rate in any unit of the county for the next year should not be more than one-third of this year's rate, providing the same amount of revenue is raised.

Clerks at the auditor's office completed the assessment sheet for each unit in time for the township advisory boards county council and city council to fix their tax levies for next year, as required by law. The taxing officials had to know the amount of taxables on which they would levy for next year before they could intelligently fix the rate.

A flat increase of twenty percent was made on all lands, lots and improvements in the townships outside the incorporated cities and towns, all real estate and improvements appraisements in Rushville, Carthage and Glenwood were raised twenty-five percent, personal property in the townships was put up thirty percent, forty percent in Rushville and sixty percent in Carthage and Glenwood. An exception in the personal property lists was made of money and notes, which were given at their true cash value in the first place.

The increase in personal property in the county amounted to $2,605,260, the old figures being $10,368,245 and the new total after the additions were made, $12,973,505.

The raise in lots and improvements in dollars and cents totaled $1,164,620, the new total being $5,958,000 as against $4,793,380, which was the figure at which the townships assessors placed them. The increase in lots alone was $288,745 and in improvements $830,975.

Lands and improvements, as certified to the state board, were assessed at $38,374,290, and with the addition of $7,681,905 as ordered by the state board, they are now valued at $46,056,195. The increase in lands alone was $6,843,030, and in improvements, $838,875.

Public utilities are valued at $5,202,155 on the new assessment sheet.

Rushville city, of course, leads the other units of the county with the largest amount of taxables, the total now amounting to $7,852,260 minus the mortgage exemptions. It was estimated by many that Rushville appraisements would mount to $9,000,000.

Rushville township outside of the city is a close second with taxables amounting to $7,154,200. Posey township is third with $5,885,175 and Anderson township is not far behind with $5,811,390. Union township is next with $5,425,680 and

The Massey-Harris Stands That Test as No Other Corn Binder Can

And the reason that it does is very clear. It has all of the desirable features found in the usual Corn Binder construction and in addition, has several exclusive ones that contribute much to its efficiency, outstanding among which is a wider range of adjustment for accommodating all heights and kinds of corn—an adjustment which can be operated with speed and accuracy. Whether the crop be the supple kaffir corn of the Southwest, the large, firm varieties of the Corn Belt, or the short growths mixed with grassy bottoms, this machine will harvest it in a way that will always please. Just keep that fact in mind, and in connection with it consider the following which will show you conclusively why the Massey-Harris Corn Binder is the machine best suited to supply your needs.

IT IS BACKED BY NEARLY 70 YEARS EXPERIENCE IN IMPLEMENT BUILDING AND IS THE CULMINATION OF 16 YEARS OF STUDY AND DEVELOPMENT.

FRANCE RESTORES ROADS DESTROYED

Ninety-Eight Percent of Portions Out of Service Last November In Service

IS OF TEMPORARY NATURE

Rebuilding of Network of Canals Progressing as Rapidly as Railway Work

(By United Press.)

Paris, (By Mail).—France has restored over 1,250 miles of railroads in the devastated districts since the signing of the armistice. This mileage is in addition to the 1,000 miles which had been provisionally repaired before the actual end of the fighting. Less than 200 miles of destroyed roadbed remain unserviceable.

Of the destroyed railways between Paris and Belgium on the Northern Railway nearly 98 percent of the portions out of service last November have been restored. On the Eastern Railway the restoration has been less complete, but even on this line which suffered heavily on the Champagne and Verdun fronts, over 80 percent of the lines are again being used.

Much of the restoration work has had to be of a temporary nature because of the shortage of materials. The hardest work was encountered in the region about Verdun and along the valley of the Meuse where numerous tunnels and bridges were destroyed. Nearly one half of the restored mileage has been on double track lines.

The rebuilding of the network of canals is progressing almost as rapidly as the railway work. The total destroyed mileage of canals exceeded 700 miles, together with 450 bridges and 115 locks. By October 1 the greater portion of these lines of cheap transportation will have been rebuilt.

Simultaneously with the railroad rebuilding, the factories in many of the "martyred" cities are resuming production on a small scale. Ma-

A Strange Doctrine

Article 20 of the league covenant obligates member nations not to enter into treaties inconsistent with the terms thereof. In conformity with that provision the pending treaty of alliance with France contains a paragraph stipulating that it must receive the approval of the league council before it can become effective. Acting upon the thought suggested by that provision Senator Brandegee, at the White House conference, asked the president if he thought it was constitutionally proper for the senate to approve a treaty the validity of which was to be left to a third party. Mr. Wilson replied that he saw no objection to such a procedure.

The constitution lodges in the president and senate the sole treaty-making power. There is not a suggestion in that instrument that their joint action must be validated by another agency before it can be effective. Certainly nothing could have been further from the thoughts of the framers of the constitution than that a council of foreigners should be required to give assent to what an American president and the American senate had determined upon as the wise policy for the United States to follow.

Make Things Plentiful

There is only one way to make things cheap. Make them plentiful. We can, of course, place upon the market large quantities of disused war supplies. We can seize hoarded provisions, and put them in the consumer's hands at a largely reduced price. But that is only a drop in the bucket. The relief is only temporary.

To say "ratify the treaty" demands a certain quality of boldness. There are many who, from the highest sense of principle, oppose the treaty, where it concerns the league. It is not to be ratified blindly. But certain it is that the present condition of political suspension is producing economic suspension. If the treaty is not ratified we do not know the nature of our relations with any country on the globe. We know nothing about the reestablishment of trade balances. We know very little about the probable disposition of raw materials. The ambiguity of our relations with Russia alone is, no doubt largely responsible for the present price of shoes. And cereals, for that matter.

It is certain that the conflicting parties in this country can get to-

A lot of men fail to get by because they cannot distinguish between conversation and fact.

It is not surprising, when some women leave their husbands. The wonder is they didn't do so long before.

European powers did so, and their interests are by no means as uniform as we think. But they have had enough experience with treaties to be less afraid of them than we are. They are subject to construction. They are flexible. There is a great difference between regarding them as scraps of paper and being bound hand and foot by the letter of each clause. Conditions will continue to arise in the future which were not contemplated by the terms of an agreement drawn at a time when they could not have been foreseen.

Switzerland, having been invited to join the league of nations, announced that she will do so on one condition that she is never called on to go to war, and is never to be coerced in any way. Should Switzerland be permitted to make such reservations as these and the United States denied the right to make any whatever?

American Clothing Picturesque
When Donned by Balkan People

American civilian clothing may be conventional when worn by Americans, but when it is donned by the Balkan mountaineer it immediately becomes picturesque. They accomplish this not by changing the color or cut, but by the way in which they apply the garments and by the way they combine with their own clothing.

Recently a party of American Red Cross women distributed garments to 600 mountaineers in this district. Then they left for another station, but returned later to open up a soup kitchen and feeding station. On their arrival at Petesti they were greeted by the beneficiaries of a week ago, clad in their new American clothes.

"It was a wonderful transformation," said one of the Red Cross workers. "The children wore the pinafores as waists and the white underwear as bloomers. The girls had worked colored designs in the stockings and had evolved a style all their own out of the sweaters. Mountain flowers in their hair and about their clothes completed the costumes in many cases."

The mountain districts have suffered intensely from the war. For five years they have been able to obtain no clothing and very little food from the surrounding towns. The American distribution, now under way, are a big event in the various towns and are celebrated in an appropriate manner. The children strew flowers in the path of the arriving American workers, and elaborate ceremonies preceded the presentation. In Petesti mountaineers responded to the presentation of clothing by presenting very formally to the Red Cross workers, a basket containing two eggs, all that could be obtained in the district.

WOOD ONE CAUSE OF HIGH PRICES

There is Scarcely a Commodity That is Not Shipped in a Wood Container.

MUST ADOPT FOREST POLICY

Forestry Association Asks for Views on This Greatest of Our Reconstruction Problems.

By CHARLES LATHROP PACK.
(Written for United Press.)

Pres. Amer. Forestry Association. Washington, Aug. 27.—In figuring out your monthly grocery bills you find "that things have gone up" and in any mental battle with the high cost of living you almost confine your struggle to food. Go back of food a step and you will find many things that increase the cost of the food you eat, although you cannot eat those things. The chief item of the list is wood.

In fact, wood is one of the chief reasons for the high cost of living and the American Forestry association calls attention to this with some startling figures. For example the box in which your berries or peaches are displayed at market costs about three times what it did in "the good old days." The barrel in which your flour found its way to the grocer has gone up in price. The paper in which your meat is wrapped is "away up." None of these things can be put through your digestive apparatus with any degree of success but the consumer pays his share in the price of the berries, the flour, the peaches or the meat.

There is scarcely a commodity that is not shipped or handled in a wood container of some sort. To say nothing of home consumption, the United States was exporting about three and a half billion board feet of lumber every year before the war.

Then the war called for wood. It went into temporary structures of every description such as camps, hospitals, recreation huts and the like. We must come up with a sharp turn on the lumber question. A national forest policy must be adopted in this country or we face economic suicide. The American Forestry Association asks for the views of lumbermen, timberland owners and foresters on this greatest of our reconstruction problems in order that a definite policy may be arrived at.

We have just fought and won the fight to save us from imperial aggression, but the fight to save us from economic ruin is just ahead of us. Are we going to let the sacrifice of our heroes go for naught? What of the future in an economic sense? The situation is just this:

The original forest area of the United States was eight hundred and fifty million acres.

There now remains in virgin timber about two hundred and thirty million acres, or one-fourth of the original.

Our total acreage of forest and cut-over lands is about five hundred million acres. One hundred million acres of this is waste land which produces nothing and one hundred and eighty million acres more contain more or less second growth. A large percentage of this second growth timber is inferior quality.

The new growth of timber is not more than one-third of the amount which is being used or destroyed every year.

There is plenty of food in that last paragraph but it is food for thought. What of our home building program when we realize that the center of our lumber industry is fast moving to the Pacific Coast? What of our home building program when we realize that New England is no longer self supporting in lumber and that the Lake states, once our greatest producers of lumber, are now importers of it from other states? This means long hauls and high freight rates which the home builder must pay. The time to build a home is now for without a national forest policy I do not believe cheaper lumber can be predicted.

The forests of France, millions of acres of which are now in ruins, kept the Hun from reaching Paris. Other vast acreages had to be cut down for war purposes. Civilization can thank France for having a forest policy of more than a hundred years standing. Her forests answered the call of war when war came. Had the wire come fifteen years later we would have been pressed to meet the lumber program. Let us heed the call of the forests before it is too late.

Amusements

Paramount Pictures Continue
Wallace Reid will appear at the Princess theatre tonight in what is said to be one of the fastest and most highly entertaining comedy dramas of his career. "You're Fired" is the characteristic title. The picture is an adaption by Clara G. Kennedy, of one of O. Henry's best stories.

It is a highly colorful production and is guaranteed to keep any audience smiling, the comedy being of a delightful and refreshing nature. There are also several dramatic situations, the most impressing of which is the foiling by the hero of an attempt by a trio of crooks to steal an important document belonging to the father of the girl, whom the hero wants to marry, and which is much desired by an unscrupulous business rival of the father.

Wallace Reid plays the role of a young man upon whom is imposed the difficult task of holding a job for three months without being fired, as a condition precedent to his marrying the daughter of a financier and railroad owner. The fun comes in when he discovered by his sweetie, who he has promised the father shall not know of their agreement; first as a xylophone player in an orchestra and later as part of the atmosphere in a little old Italian restaurant and is unable to explain to her why he is engaged in such trivial work.

But at the finish he wins out, because he saves his daddy-to-be a few millions by recovering a stolen paper.

Vitagraph Star at Mystic.
Beth was only a little boarding house drudge, and there was little of happiness in her life, but she believed every word of the fairy tales she read and, therefore, believed in the world's goodness and in trying to make others happy. And so when she ran across a strange little baby without any home, she became a little mother to it, little dreaming the child belonged to a great millionaire and had been kidnapped.

Not so long afterwards, Beth found herself without any home and the kind housekeeper in the millionaire's mansion gave her shelter. Beth learned the lady of the house way dying of grief because she had lost her baby and so she went and got the child she had been mothering and agreed to "lend" it to the grieving mother. And it proved to be her own child, and the mother got well and every dream of love and happiness of which Beth had read in her fairy tales came to her.

Gladys Leslie has one of her most appealing roles as Beth, in "Fortune's Child", which is her third release in the Vitagraph Star Series, and which will be seen in the Mystic Theatre tonight.

Treat Your Seed Wheat Prevent Stinking Smut

Last year's results gave conclusive proof of the value of FORMALDEHYDE. To treat your wheat is money earned. We quote County Agent Marion F. Detrick, who outlines the following directions:

"Sprinkle the seed until thoroughly moist with a solution of one pint of 40 % Formaldehyde to 40 gallons of water, shoveling over repeatedly to distribute the moisture evenly. Forty gallons of the solution will treat sixty bushels of grain. Shovel into a pile and cover with sacks, blankets or canvas for at least two hours, but not more than five. Dry by spreading a thin layer and stirring occasionally with a shovel or rake. The seed may be sown when dry enough to run through the drill, setting the drill to sow one or two pecks more per acre to allow for the swollen condition of the grain. If it is to be stored for several days or longer, dry thoroughly. Disinfect sacks, bins and drill to prevent re-infection."

TREATING STINKING SMUT

County Agent Will Have Demonstration on Friday.

County Agent M. F. Detrick was conducting a demonstration this afternoon at the home of Ernest Berlinger, on the Alvan Moor farm, north of the city, to treat the wheat for the stinking smut. The formaldehyde treatment was used. A similar demonstration will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Earl George, just this side of New Salem, and the county agent stated that any farmer interested in these treatments is invited to attend the meeting. Such demonstrations will be held from time to time to get rid of the stinking smut.

The Big Four railroad appeared before the council last night with a proposition for the supplying of water by a meter in their tank, near the station. The contract which they had, was not like the original one placed by the council, and the railroad company will be asked to draw up another contract, using the rates as given them on last September.

The 1919 acts of the legislature compels any plant supplying water for human consumption, to be analysed annually by the State Board of Health, and a report was read last night of the condition of the water of Rushville. The board was highly pleased with the water, and remarked that it was healthful. This should ease the minds of anyone who might have been afraid of typhoid with the new wells which were only recently thrown into the city reservoir.

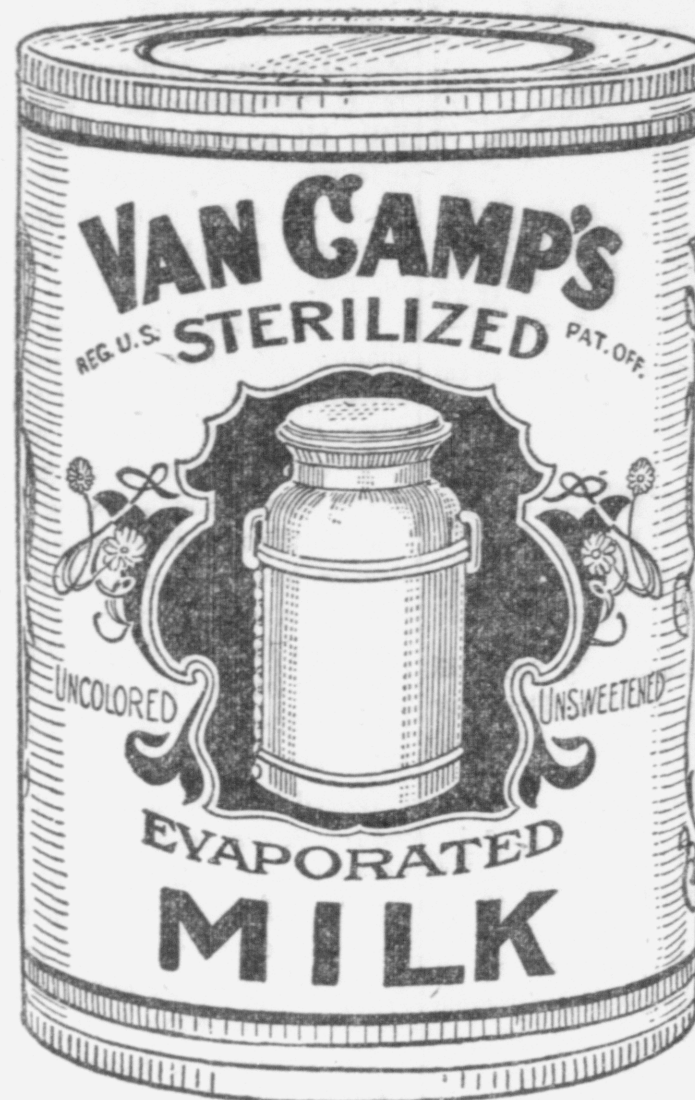

City Health Officer, Dr. J. B. Kinsinger appeared before the council, asking that he be given aid for a certain period, in making investigations as to the cleanliness of the city. He said that he was receiving many calls daily about unsanitary conditions, and that he could not investigate them all. He said that the health conditions should be put into the best of shape now, before winter. He said among the complaints which he had received, were five hog pens, within the city limits, which is a violation of a city ordinance.

The council decided to allow Dr. Kinsinger a health inspector for an indefinite period, and a crusade of people's back yards will be made, and a general cleaning up of the unhealthy conditions will be made. Dr. Kinsinger will direct the campaign. Frank Havens, former policeman that he is to get pay today. He will be remembered as policeman, was appointed today to be the health inspector.

The council also instructed Chief of Police Seward to purchase handcuffs of the latest design, and see to it that each policeman has a pair. He was also told to see to it that the police carry the handcuffs and not leave them in the police headquarters under a lock and key.

It was expected that the tax levy for next year would be decided upon, but it was not ready, and as they are allowed until September 15th to make the budget, it was decided that a meeting will be held on Monday night for this purpose.

Double Butter Fat

All the Van Camp condenseries are surrounded by sanitary dairies filled with high-bred cows.

The fresh milk is brought in and placed in a vacuum. There, by low heat, more than half the water is evaporated.

Then we have a milk as thick as thick cream—twice as rich as it came from the cow.

If you want a rich cream for coffee, cereals, or ice cream, you can use Van Camp's as it is. If you want rich milk, dilute it with an equal part of water. For cooking, dilute it further.

Cheaper—Richer —Safer

Van Camp's costs less than bottled milk. It is vastly cheaper, because it saves all waste.

Keep small cans and large cans on the pantry shelf. Open what you wish.

Thus you have milk or cream for any purpose. Never a shortage, never a waste.

You have a sterilized milk—the only safe sort for infants or for drinking.

You have for your cooking a full-cream milk, instead of the usual skimmed milk.

An Extraordinary Milk

We have worked 20 years to attain for you the utmost in a milk. It comes from healthy, high-bred cows. It is protected in all scientific ways.

Compare it with other milk, bottled or in cans. You will find Van Camp's the milk you want.

Order from your grocer, and today.

Farmers, Attention!

The matter of building an annex to the water and light plant was taken up, and a building will have to be built in order to take care of the new equipment. A committee was appointed to look into this matter and decide about the cost, and see whether or not an architect should be employed to draw up the plans and specifications. With the present high cost, an annex will be approximately in the neighborhood of $6,000 or $7,000.

The question was brought up as to where the money for building this addition, was to be had, and it was learned that there remains now in the Water and Light fund a balance of $13,000 and the six months collections for the remainder of this year are not in yet, which will bring the amount up to within a few thousand dollars, of the $30,000 mark, which is the estimated cost on the new building, equipment and extending of the headers at the plant, into the new structure.

Mayor Irvin was in consultation yesterday with a member of the State Tax Board, and he stated that they would not refuse the granting of more money on next year's budget, if it was needed. Mayor Irvin then was explaining about the fire truck which the city has been thinking of buying, and it is almost a certainty that the question of money will not keep the new plant from being built. The council will receive bills for the equipment on Thursday, Sept. 25th.

COUNTY COUNCIL FINISHES TODAY

Were Working on the Tax Levy for 1920 This Afternoon and Session Will End Today.

REFUSES CO. AGENT MONEY

Also Refuse Appropriation of $2680 For Architects Who Drew Up Plans for Infirmary.

The county council was in session again today, and it was thought that they would fix the tax levy today, and finish the work which was before them. The budget calling for the appropriation of $11,004.50 was being discussed.

The county council denied three requests for appropriations and tentatively agreed on other items of the county commissioner's budget, before adjourning late yesterday afternoon.

One of the appropriations refused was $2,680 to pay McGuire and Shook of Indianapolis, the architects who drew the plans and specifications for the proposed county infirmary. The sum would have been paid out of funds derived by a bond issue to build the infirmary, but since permission to issue bonds for that purpose was denied by the state board of tax commissioners, the county commissioners had no other alternative but to ask the council for an appropriation to pay the claim. What will be done with it is not known because the commissioners have no fund from which they can pay the architects.

The county council also refused to appropriate any money to pay the expenses of the county agriculture agent. Many maintain that the county is compelled to pay the agents office expenses, under a state law, since the state and United States government contributed to wards his salary. However, the refusal of the council to appropriate indicates that they want to test the law providing an effort is made to collect the money alleged due the county agent for next year, also some back on this year.

The council also denied the request of the county commissioners for $30,000 to be used to build new bridges. It is said that in the past the bridges and the estimated amount they will cost have always been itemized in the commissioners budget, but this year commissioners asked for a lump sum, based on their belief of the new bridges which would be needed during the year.

MRS. LLOYD GEORGE

Wife of the prime minister of Great Britain.

The Luline Council, No. 296, will hold their regular meeting Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Red Men's Hall.

The Misses Jean Sparks, Margery Sparks, of Greenfield, Janet Dean, Josephine School, Margery Clark, and Elizabeth Pierson formed a mortoring party today and attended the State Fair in Indianapolis.

About forty guests were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Canley in North Morgan street last evening, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Geraghty and family of Spokane, Wash. A delicious pitch-in supper was served, after which the time was spent socially.

A large crowd of relatives of the Leisure family from this city attended the annual Leisure reunion held at Mounds Park, Anderson, last Thursday. A basket dinner was served at noon followed by a splendid program, consisting of readings and several selections by the Anderson Orchestra. Following the program a group picture was taken of the family and the remaining hours was spent socially.

Mrs. Lowell Norris and Mrs. Walter Norris entertained with an informal party yesterday afternoon at the home of the former, southeast of the city, honoring Miss Helen Norris, a bride elect. The rooms were decorated in a color scheme of pink and green, the same colors predominating in the dainty refreshments that were served late in the afternoon to the thirty-five guests who were present.

Mrs. Phoebe Phillips delightfully entertained twenty-one members of the Penny Social of the W. R. C. and six guests at her home in Arlington yesterday. At noon a bountiful pitch-in-dinner was served. A short business session was held in the afternoon which was followed by a program. Mrs. Mary Poston recited a poem "Under the Flag". The remainder of the afternoon was spent socially and refreshments of watermelon was served at a late hour. Mrs. Elizabeth Pearsey and children, of Muncie, were the guests.

A pretty church wedding was solemnized this morning at the Catholic church when Miss Nellie Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hayes, became the bride of George Todd, of this city. The attendants were Miss Katherine Hayes, sister of the bride, and Patrick Todd, of Greenfield.

Immediately following the ceremony, an elaborate wedding breakfast was given at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, of near Raleigh. The rooms were decorated in the color scheme of pink and white, astors being used in profusion. The bride's table was the center attraction being beautifully decorated with pink and white asters. Covers were laid for seventy-five guests for the breakfast. Both the bride and groom are well known in this city. Mr. Todd, who has recently been discharged from the navy is now employed at the Caldwell Furniture store. They will make their future home in this city.

Immortal Sayings Not a Hit Nowadays

By MARGARET RHODE

(Written for United Press.)

If you are dying to be chic Here's what you'll have to do Just get some lace to make a frock And then let it dye too.

New York, Sept. 3—That immortal phrase of Barnaby Rudge's raven "Never say die" would make little hit nowadays in the fashionable world. This season everyone's ravin' instead "You simply must dye" at least when it is a question of lace.

Not only the lovely lace net and shadow lace gowns and frocks are popular in black but all the lace gown in pastel shades and even vivid tints are the last gasp of a dying season and a dyeing fashion.

Even the real laces of hand made lineage have not escaped the dyers dire pot and filet chun and torchon insets on focks of linen, taffeta and crepe de chine are all dyed up to match exactly their accompanying material.

Indeed the combining of linen lace with a silken fabric such as crepe de chine or taffeta is one of the latest Paris fads and when the lace does not exactly match the gown shade in hue it is done in a most striking contrasting tone.

For example a favorite combination of color is a Nattier blue taffeta trimmed in bands of heavy jonquil yellow lace.

An all grey taffeta with grey filet in a charming cloud effect that needs no silver lining, but relies wholly on a flesh toned satin one instead.

In the all over lace and lace and net frocks of fluffy three tiered ruffled skirts and flowing elbow sleeves or else above the elbow weaves, sort of 2.75 percent sleeves, the grey dye shades the shadow lace to a veritable shadowy hue. A lovely orchid dye, makes old lace and lavender one and the same and is one of the most exquisitely lovely colorings for these dyed lace gowns.

Oyster white, cafe au lait, biscuit, apricot, peach, citron and salmon are all delectable tints that appeal to Fashion's jaded sartorial appetite as delectable hues for lace frocks. These neutral tones and pastel shades are usually relieved with a vivid streak of contrasting

School Gingham

School Shoes

"I like this one best, mother"

When you are choosing patterns of gingham for your daughter's school dresses, why not bring her in with you so she may have a dress of her own choosing to wear on the first day of school. You know how bright and happy every child looks on the first day of school when they arrive in their new gingham frocks. Let your child be as happy as the rest in a brand new dress. You know she will not be satisfied to wear her old dress on the first day. You may guide her in her choice—thus she will have learned to choose for herself when grown.

Our shelves are overflowing with beautiful new patterns in gingham, percales and wool dress goods—ready to be made into pretty frocks for the school children. Myriads of colors and designs. You cannot fail to find just the color you have in mind. New shipment of Ready-to-Wear School Dresses.

New arrivals in collars

A large shipment of new collars, collar and cuff sets, and vestees have arrived from New York. Beautiful effects in round lace collars, dainty lace and voile vestees, a large variety from which to choose. Also silk collars and vestees for your Fall suits.

The Mauzy Co.

color in the form of a narrow picot edged ribbon knotted with flowing ends about the waist.

These dangling ends of narrow ribbons are by no means the end of such ends however for we are to have no end of ends again in a return of fringe even more virulent than our first attack of it. We are to be simply all fringed about with fringe. Entire gowns made of narrow ribbon fringe over satin slips have the ends held in leash only at the neck line, belt and arm holes while the floating ends away free and unrestrained to form the skirt and sleeves.

These fringe dresses formed of knotted silk fringe are stunning but a bit startling of black fringe over a white satin slip or vice versa.

They are sketchy to say the least and seem to call loudly for a ukulele or poi.

As a close cousin to fringe is the frayed finish to taffeta frocks. Bands of the taffeta raveled on both edges and gathered through the middle like ruching makes a trimming not unlike the favorite feather tu trimming that feathers our best.

So be not afraid to don a frayed frock it is a sure winner in fashions affray.

PROBABLY LAST MEET HELD

Persimmon Brigade of Civil War is Thinned by Death.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3—For thirty-four years the Persimmon Brigade of Civil War fame has met, recalled old times and adjourned. Today its members met again in probably the last meeting. The ranks have been thinned by death and those still living are becoming too feeble from the ravages of time to journey to meetings.

The brigade consists of the 115th, 116th, and 118th Indiana Volunteer Infantry companies, who brought fame to Hoosierdom during '65.

SINGLE G. RACES TODAY AT FAIR

amous Pacer Meets Miss Harris in a Three Heat Contest Which is Expected to Break Records

BOTH ARE INDIANA HORSES.

ducational Lectures are Held For Exhibitors in The Fine Art Department Today.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3.—The rowing crowds at the State Fair today indicated the increasing interest in the exposition out in the state, and with favorable weather management is expecting its attendance record to be broken. All the wheels were turning in the fair's machinery department today, the bands were playing and the full program of special attractions was under way. In the show rings Bel-an horses, Shorthorn and Hereford beef cattle and Guernsey in the dairy breed were features in the contests for blue ribbons, while Poland China and Hampshires were down in the swine contests. The attention of the crowd was concentrated on the poultry show, while the fine arts in the new women's building and the automobile show in the new manufacturers' building drew thousands of sight seers.

The distinctive feature of the day was to be the racing race this afternoon between Single G. (L: 59-4) and Miss Harris M. (1:58-4) in a three heat contest for a special purse of $4,000. These pacers are both owned in Indiana and are the fastest pacers in the world. With track conditions favorable it was expected that the record of the Indiana course would be broken, while a new record mark for pacers was anticipated.

Another feature was educational lectures for exhibitors in the fine arts department, made by the judges of pictures, needlework, decorated china and similar displays, in which the judges explained why ribbons had been tied on some exhibits and why other exhibitors failed to win. The purpose of the lectures was to help exhibitors improve their craftsmanship products which are shown at the Indiana fair in future years. The lectures were held in the auditorium of the women's building.

London—Charged with being in possession of counterfeit ten shilling notes, William Warner successfully pleaded that he carried them for a joke, startling people by using them in public as cigarette lighters.

Foley's Honey and Tar COMPOUND

IS PLEASANT TO TAKE, and soothes the raw, inflamed surfaces; stops the rasping, strangling feeling in the throat. It is made of the purest, freshest and finest ingredients to be had, contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and costs twice as much to make as any imitation of it.

Every User a Friend
"My little boy had a severe attack of croup and I honestly believe he would have died if it had not been for Foley's Honey and Tar. Two doses relieved him and he went to sleep and was troubled no more."—Mrs. W. H. Thornton, 3523 W. 10th St., Little Rock, Ark.

"I am in my eighty-seventh year and I was troubled with a tickling in my throat. I am very glad to tell you that Foley's Honey and Tar has stopped that."—Geo. P. Randall, Dayton, Nev.

Foley's Honey and Tar is recommended for coughs, colds, hoarseness, tickling of the throat, spasmodic croup, whooping cough, la grippe and bronchial coughs.

U. S. DRY FORCES INVADE ENGLAND

John Bull Don't Know Whether to be Amused, Scared or Angry About the Future Prospects

WILL COMMENCE THIS FALL

William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson Has Established Headquarters in London

(By United Press.)

London (By Mail)—British "dry" forces, reinforced by the Anti-Saloon League of America, are completing their plans, and marshaling their "sturmtroepen" for a mighty offensive commencing this fall. And Johnny Bull is sitting up and watching with considerable interest, uncertain whether he ought to be amused, scared or angry.

Immediately the lid went on in the United States, William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson, "Field-marshal Commander-in-Chief" of America's "dry army," established a branch G. H. Q. in London, and proceeded to show local prohibitionists just how to wage war on booze. Hitherto, although there had been an occasional prohibition movement in Great Britain, the "drys" had made very little headway, the only really prominent man identified with the movement being the late Sir Wilfrid Lawson, who aroused controversy some years back by emptying his inherited wine-cellar down the drains.

Prohibition was represented in England by the United Kingdom Alliance, but the organization was not well equipped with funds, and was so out of date in its methods that the "wets" ceased to regard its members as anything more dangerous than "bun-wallahs," a strange sect who participated in orgies of tea-drinking and bun consumption. But "Pussyfoot" Johnson has changed all this.

Canon Masterman, president of the U. K. A. recently visited America to find out how the "wets" there had been overwhelmed. He fixed up an alliance with the Anti-Saloon league with the result that another A. E. F. was soon on the high seas.

Johnson established himself quietly in Fleet street—the home of newspapers and publicity, but so skillfully were his opening moves made, that he succeeded in avoiding attracting attention for some months. Then he disclosed himself. It would be rash to suggest that he captured the powerful Northcliffe Press, but it says much for his generalship and tactics that he managed to secure a magnificent advertisement out of a hostile organization.

Lord Northcliffe's papers discovered his presence and taking up the role of Dickens' Fat Boy, the Daily Mail proceeded to make Johnny Bull's flesh creep with lengthy stories of "Pussyfoot's" aims, antecedents, methods and chances of success. J. Bull was slightly amused but as the whole Northcliffe artillery—the Times, Weekly Dispatch, Evening News, Daily Mirror, and others—joined in the attack British "wets" began to realize that they must get busy.

A big defensive campaign was opened, and hair-raising stories of American prohibition methods were published, stories of Machiavellian cunning, hysterical campaigning and Napoleonic victories. The "wets" tearfully appealed to that much criticized autocrat, the British Working Man to repudiate the sponsors of grapejuice and similar "soft" drinks with fantastic names. They reminded him of his old war-cry "Damn his eyes, whoever he tries, to rob a poor man of his beer." And they succeeded in making Mr. B. W. M. sit up and think "there might be something in it."

Meanwhile the much discussed "Pussyfoot" Johnson, satisfied with his first demonstration, had departed for Finland to organize an offensive in northern Europe, but he left a promise to return in the fall. The full weight of the counter-offensive accordingly fell upon the poor old United Kingdom Alliance, which "frightfully bucked by the prominence given to its aims, and the promise of solid support from American "drys" nevertheless wilted before the storm of protest.

The announcement that many leading American temperance orators are on their way to England to take part in the fray gave the "wets" a popular battle-cry, with the inevitable warning "Hands Off America, Mind your own interference," or words to that effect. The U. K. A. hurried forward with a flat denial, but investigation proved conclusively that the Anti-Saloon League had volunteered to pay expenses of their orators.

In any event "Pussyfoot" Johnson has made a remarkably good start. Moreover, he has arrived at the most favorable possible moment. War-time drink restrictions are being gradually pruned down, but everybody agrees that a return to the pre-war hours for saloon opening and the sale of intoxicants is impossible and undesirable.

On the other hand British workers, and in fact the British people as a whole, are fond of a glass of beer. They don't need fancy drinks, but they will have beer.

LONDON—The term "Taking French leave" having been used in connection with desertion, Judge McCordie explained that it really arose from certain "nouveaux riches" departing without saying "good-bye" to their hosts.

APPROVES 2 BOND ISSUES

Tax Board Acts on Washington and Richland Township Petitions.

The state board of tax commissioners has approved requests for two bond issues petitioned for in this county. One was for $4,000 for the Washington township schools and the other was $19840 to build the Moore road in Richland township.

There are still two road bond petitions pending before the state board—one to build the John H. Power cement road north of Rushville and the other to construct the Hungerford road on the Rushville-Walker township line.

START FIGHT ON CROWDING

Official of Japan Advocated Elimination of First Class

(By United Press.)

Tokyo, (By Mail).—As an evidence of the advance of democracy in Japan, plans are under consideration by Home Minister Tokomami, president of the Imperial Government Railway board, to end the overcrowding of third-class cars while first-class cars are pulled along almost empty.

This official advocates elimination of the first class altogether. The railways are able to run he says, because of the revenue from the third-class cars, and it is proposed that those who provide the bulk of the funds shall have some of the comforts. New coaches are, therefore, under construction with comfortable seats instead of the present bench-like accommodations.

RELATIONS TWIST
U.S. AND JAPS GOOD

Viscount Ishii Said That There is no Collision of Vital Interest Between Two Countries

INTEREST NOT IN ORIENT

America's Safety in Orient Lies in Her Developing China Industrially And Commercially.

(By United Press.)

Tokyo, (By Mail).—An entirely optimistic view in regard to the future relations of Japan and the United States was expressed by Viscount Ishii, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, who has just returned to Japan, in an interview the other day. The Viscount said that there is no collision of vital interests between the two countries on any problems, although it is inevitable that now and then propagandists will talk about a Japan-American war, and some people will believe that relations between the two nations are badly strained.

He attributes all misunderstandings between the two Powers to the intrigues of propagandists, some of whom are active in China, he said. America's vital interests are mainly in the European and Latin-American markets and not in the Orient market, the Viscount said. Therefore, America is contented with the strict observance by the powers of the open-door and equal-opportunity principle in China, and has never dreamed of an economic monopolization of the Chinese market, nor will she dream of such a thing.

America's safety in the extreme Orient, continued the Viscount, lies in her developing China industrially and commercially hand in hand with Japan as well as with other Powers, but not in trying to monopolize Chinese national resources. Though the Oriental market, especially that in China, may be of vital interest to Japan, Ishii does not believe those interests are being endangered by the American participation in the industrial exploitation of China, because, however wealthy the American capitalists may be, they cannot be considered as aspiring to pour the greater part of their capital into enterprises in that country to such degree that no other country can complete with them.

Since the American Government, as well as the American people in general, are confident that Japan will never destroy the principles of the open door and equal opportunity in China thinking people there feel quite safe and satisfied with the present situation. For the same reason Ishii approves of the American proposition of the consortium for China. He says it will be very advantageous, not only to China herself but also to Japan and America, for two reasons: First, it will do away with useless economic competition among the Powers interested in Chinese finances and economies, and secondly, it will serve to put an end to the activities of propagandists.

Referring to the Chinese peace delegates' refusal to sign the Peace Treaty, he said this action was very disadvantageous and that would soon be brought home to China that it is advisable to sign.

FARM ITEMS FROM HERE
AND THERE IN INDIANA

Fifty per cent of the Floyd county farmers who own their own land are endeavoring to buy ground limestone and apply it on their land this fall, County Agent C. U. Watson reports. A number who are seeking to prevent long hauls with the stone have purchased crushers and are grinding their own stone.

A number of Steuben County farmers purchased five cars of a light grade fertilizer for fall use, at a cost of $6,000. The order was cancelled when inquiry to the county agent and state chemist revealed that the fertilizer was not up to standard, and an order was placed for a better brand. The district agent resigned and took a position with the company handling the better grade of fertilizer.

Brunswick Principles
In Fine Tire Making

The reason you are interested in the name on your tire is that it identifies the maker. By knowing the maker you can judge his ideals of manufacture.

The only secret of a super-tire lies in the principles of the maker. His standards decide the quality. For there are no secrets in the tire industry.

What you get depends on what is behind the name on your tire. Brunswick, as you know, means a very old concern, jealous of its good name. Since 1845 the House of Brunswick has been famous the world over for the quality of its products.

The Brunswick Tire is all that you expect—and more. Your first one will be a revelation. You'll agree that you've never known a better. And you'll tell your friends. So spreads the news among motorists. The Brunswick is the most welcome tire that ever came to market.

Try one Brunswick Tire. Learn how good a tire can be built. And remember, it costs no more than like-type tires.

ACME PIG MEAL is fed to BROOD SOWS, SUCKLING PIGS, WEANED PIGS and FATTENING HOGS.

ACME PIG MEAL should be fed from birth to maturity, and when you feed a ration of Acme PIG MEAL it is equal to feeding a ration of MILK.

ACME PIG MEAL is fed in self feeders, or as a slop. When fed as a slop mix one pint of ACME PIG MEAL with 7 pints of water, which makes a gallon. In the instructions following, when we speak of a "GALLON" will mean one pint of ACME PIG MEAL and 7 pints of water.

BROOD SOWS not suckling, on dry feed. Feed one gallon of ACME PIG MEAL to 2 sows twice per day, and a pound of corn at noon. If you do not have corn, increase the ACME PIG MEAL.

BROOD SOWS SUCKLING. Feed ½ gallon of ACME PIG MEAL 2 or 3 times per day to each sow in connection with other feed.

SUCKLING PIGS. Build a "creep" and give the suckling pigs all the ACME PIG MEAL they will eat; either feed "dry" in Self Feeders, or as a slop. PIGS so fed will wean themselves with the sows at about 8 weeks of age. AFTER THE PIGS ARE WEANED, feed all the ACME PIG MEAL they will eat. DO NOT feed anything else with ACME PIG MEAL (except pasture) until they are 3½ to 4 months of age; then add some corn or other fat producing feeds. The first month each pig will eat about 6 pounds of ACME PIG MEAL, and after they are weaned will eat about 15 pounds of ACME PIG MEAL per month each. ACME PIG MEAL is equal to milk, and the only ration upon which PIGS WILL WEAN THEMSELVES, retain the BABY PIG FAT, prevent the RUNTS and SET-BACKS, and make pigs pay.

WEANED PIGS, 3½ to 4 months of age. Feed one gallon of ACME PIG MEAL (meaning one pint of ACME PIG MEAL and 7 pints of water) to 4 pigs twice per day, and add to this ration corn and other fat producing feeds.

FATTENING HOGS. Feed the ACME PIG MEAL in Self Feeders to hogs on full feed, or feed one gallon of ACME PIG MEAL to 4 hogs twice per day, if fed as a slop. ACME PIG MEAL contains 28½ per cent protein, and will balance the grain ration the same as MILK, and at half the cost of TANKAGE.

NOTICE—When ACME PIG MEAL is fed, do not feed TANKAGE, as it is unnecessary.

CUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

By baking your own bread from
CLARK'S PURITY FLOUR

One barrel of 196 pounds will make 283 loaves of bread, which at 10c each would amount to $28.30. CLARK'S PURITY FLOUR retails at $13.60 per barrel, then the housewife who bakes her bread will save $14.70 per barrel, less the seasoning and fuel for baking; hence a long step in the direction of reducing the high cost of living would be accomplished.

"DRYS" GET ANOTHER RECRUIT AT ASCOT ENG.

Lady Gertrude Decies Opens Hotel With a "Dry" Saloon in Connection and Does Business

UNABLE TO GET A LICENSE

Ascot, Eng. (By Mail).—Prohibition added a temporary recruit to its rank here when Lady Gertrude Decies, widow of the late Baron embarked in the hotel business with a "dry" bar.

The hotel was formerly the country residence of the Decies and will be known as The Scotswood Golf hotel. Guests will be welcomed at a daily price of $5 per head, but with the understanding no liquor will be served.

In its place the perspiring golfer or race goers can have lemon pop, ginger ale, ice cream, milk and many other soft concoctions.

There are however, several oasis. Not far from the hotel is the aristocratic and fashionable Swinley Forest club where those fortunate enough to have a friend for a member, may get "hard" liquor.

Local pubs are looking forward to a "landoffice" business.

But it is not because Lady Decies is a prohibitionist that she is running a temperance hotel.

Licenses are hard things to get these days and it won't be until next February that one will be available. It is expected that one will be sought unless the Prohibitionists can persuade the aristocratic proprietress to a permanent "dryness."

LONDON—The renaming of German named streets in London proceeds. Haig St. for Munster St., Beatty St. for Osnaburg St., Cavell Sq. for Mecklenburg Sq. and Fryat St. for Hanover St. are suggestions.

Big Lot of Hay Fever Jokes

But Kentucky Man Says—"People Who Belong to Hay Fever Colony are Kidding Themselves."

Wouldn't Be Any Rose or Hay Fever if Simple Home Remedy Was Given a Chance.

"Yes, there's a real NINTY-NINE per cent effective remedy for hay or rose fever," frankly states a druggist in a prosperous Kentucky city.

"But I don't expect anyone to believe me, because the treatment is so easy and the cost not worth mentioning."

"The annual crop of hay-fever jokes would be mighty scarce if people would get an ounce of Mentholized Arcine and by just adding water that has been boiled make a pint of liquid that will prove a real help to all who suffer."

"Many of my hay-fever friends tell me that by starting to gargle and snuff or spray the nostrils a few times a day the expected severe attack often fails to appear and in cases where it does show up is very mild and does not annoy."

"The Better Class of Pharmacists" who dispense Mentholized Arcine say it will greatly modify any attack even when taken three or four days after hostilities begin.

Go to a real live druggist when you get ready to make a pint.

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

If Your Nerves Are Shaky Because of Over-Indulgence in Tobacco or Alcohol or by Excess of Any Kind, Bio-Feren Is What You Need Right Away.

Don't grow old before your time, don't let nervousness wreck your happiness or chances in life. The man with strong, steady nerves is full of vigor, energy, ambition and confidence.

You can have nerves of steel, firm step, new courage and keep mind by putting your blood and nerves in first-class shape with mighty Bio-Feren, a new discovery, inexpensive and efficient.

Men and women who get up so tired in the morning that they have to drag themselves to their daily labor will in just a few days arise with clear mind, definite purpose and loads of ambition.

All you have to do is to take two Bio-Feren tablets after each meal and one at bedtime—7 a day for 7 days—then reduce to one after each meal until all are gone.

Then if your energy and endurance haven't doubled, if your mind isn't keener and eyes brighter, if you don't feel twice as ambitious as before, any druggist anywhere will return the purchase price—gladly and freely.

Bio-Feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, run-down, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

NEW DEPARTMENT MAKES A DISPLAY

Exhibit of Great Interest Showing Value of Conservation is Shown at State Fair.

AUSPICES OF STATE BODY

Divisions of Fish and Game, Forestry, Entomology and Lands and Waters Have Displays

Indiana's new department of conservation, created April 1, 1919 is represented at the state fair, Sept. 1-6, by an exhibit of great interest and variety. Under the direction of Richard Lieber, director, the five divisions of the department bent every effort to bring the work and importance of the department to the attention of the public.

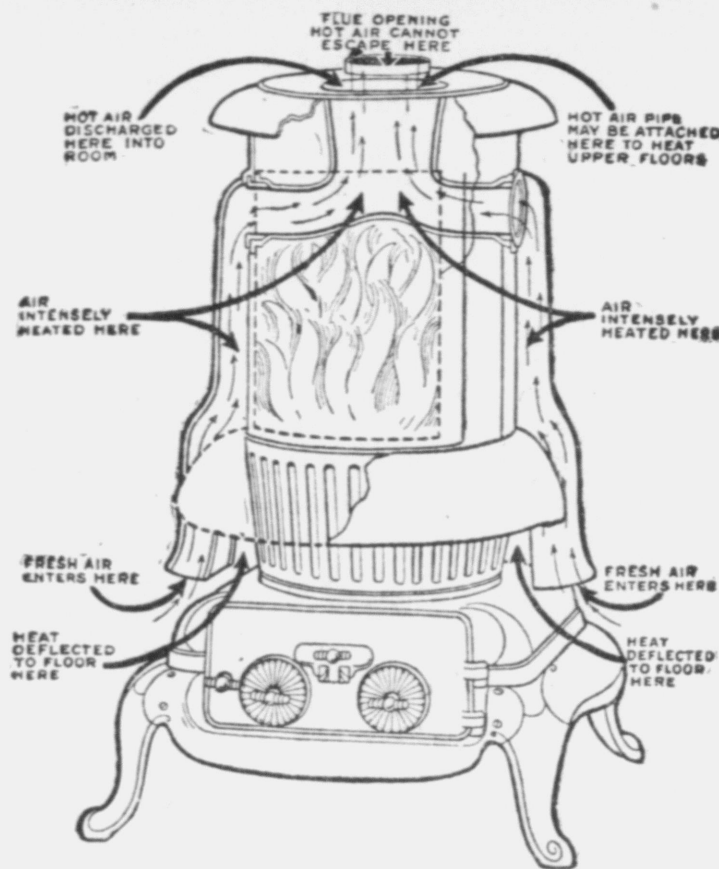

The division of fish and game has have on exhibit the many types of fish which are to be found in Indiana waters. In addition there will be specimens of the many species of wild game which inhabit our woods. Here will be the headquarters for fishermen and hunters where it may be safely predicted one will hear stories of the enormous fish which slipped off the hook and of stupendous bags of game which have been brought in. In the building will be found the division of geology, where there will be on exhibit samples of Indiana minerals such as limestone, coal and clay. Information on all geological questions such as soil composition, clay for bricks, oil drilling and gas districts will be available.

Nearby in the well-known forestry building is the divisions of forestry, entomology and lands and waters. Here are specimens of the various kinds of wood common to Indiana, with information as to their uses. The state forester and his assistant will be on hand to answer questions on all phases of forestry such as planting and care of shade trees, selling timber, growing fence posts and the teaching of forestry.

The entomologist also has on exhibit the great numbers of insects and diseases affecting Indiana crops. Here you will probably find a specimen of that particular pest which has been causing trouble in your field and garden all season and with it you will find how you can fight it. On the outside will be set up approved types of bee hives and samples of the varied paraphernalia of the bee keeper. This division has spent considerable effort on a campaign for improving the bee keeping industry of the state. Experts in this line will be present to talk to people interested in this line of work.

The division of lands and waters commissioned Indiana's most prominent nature photographer to photograph the great variety of scenic beauty to be found in Indiana's state parks. These pictures are on exhibit in the forestry building and will be a rare treat to those who have not taken the opportunity to visit the state parks at Turkey Run and McCormick's Creek Canyon. These two tracts are preserved for their wild beauty and visited by thousands annually. They form the nucleus of a great chain of state parks which will be built up

School Days

¶ The end of the vacation period is near, and the boys and girls will be going back to the school again, some start next week and others a week later.

¶ Make the right kind of a start, with your personal appearance registering 100 per cent. The right kind of clothes don't mean new ones, but everyday clothes thoroughly renovated and cleansed by the process offered by the Twentieth Century Cleaners and Pressers, will insure the right kind of personal appearance.

¶ The 20th Century Cleaners and Pressers are prepared to take care of all school work, for the little tots to the college students, and those living in Rushville may phone 1154 and they will call for the package. Country patrons may bring, send or mail them, and the work will be gotten out promptly.

CITY TO ENLARGE LIGHT PLANT AT ESTIMATED COST OF $30,000

City Council Finds That the Only
Way Out of the Electric Plant
Problem is to Enlarge

WILL BUILD AN ANNEX

Present Building Will Not Accomodate New Machinery And an Addition Will be Built.

POWER TO BE DOUBLED

New Machinery Will Change the
Current From a Condensing to a
Non-Condensing Form.

The city council spent most of its time last night discussing the City Water, Light and Power Plant, which has been hanging fire for several weeks, and action was taken which will mean the building of an annex to the local plant, and the purchasing of additional machinery which will double the voltage of the plant, giving part of the machinery a rest instead of using all of it under a strain. The approximated cost of the new building and equipment will be in the neighborhood of $30,000.

A few weeks ago the council advertised for bids for electric current to be placed at the switch board in the plant, thinking that if some outside company would furnish the current to be used when the local equipment was not strong enough to supply the demand, but at the specified time for receiving bids, none were submitted, and the only thing to be done now is to enlarge the present equipment, and it was decided last night that the current voltage will be doubled.

A couple of months ago a committee from the council were to investigate the cost of advisability of building an addition, and when submitted to the council, it was thought that it would be too large an undertaking, as the expense could not be met with, but now the drain is so severed on the equipment, that danger of a break down is in sight, if it is continued to be used 24 hours a day, and seven days in the week.

An electrician was present and advanced his views about the situation. He pointed out to the council that by changing the current from a condensing form to a non-condensing current, and installing equipment which will double the present voltage, it would give the equipment a rest from time to time, and would balance by units. By changing to a non-condensing current, $15,000 can be saved on the cost.

He stated that any electric plant should be made up of units, equally balanced, and that the local plant was now made up of two units, but they were being worked all of the time, with nothing in reserve. By the addition of one large unit, it would balance with the two units now in use, and the plant would consist practically of four units, using only two units at a time, keeping the other two in reserve.

The electrician estimated that the cost of machinery to generate the electric current, would be in the approximate figures of $21,000. He had prepared a contract which was adopted by the council, wherein all of the expense of labor and setting up of machinery was to be borne by the contracting company, and payment for the job was to be made in three payments, 50 percent with order, 30 percent upon receipt of the machinery and 20 percent after completion of the installation. A thousand dollars was to be kept out by the city for a period of one year, after the acceptance of the job, in order that the contracting company would fulfill any obligation which

Joe Williamson Appointed Fire
Chief to Succeed Walter Easley
—on Duty All the Time.

HEALTH INSPECTOR NAMED.

The city council which was in regular session last night spent a busy evening, most of the evening being taken up with the discussion of the City Water, Light and Power plant, but in between times something else would come up, and the session was considered by all as a very busy one.

Fire Chief Walter F. Easley sent in his resignation, and as it was looked forward to by the fire committee, a proposition was advanced by Councilman Wagoner which resulted in the appointment by Mayor Irvin of Joe Williamson as fire chief, and the council hired him as a fireman, making the fire chief a paid member of the company, whose duty it is to remain at the fire station. Mr. Williamson was present and means accepted the proposition, which means that he is to get pay as a fireman, and the annual salary of the fire chief.

The fire department now has four paid men at the station, and Mr. Williamson took up his new duties today. He will be remembered as being on the fire department, up until about a year and a half ago, when he left for the east, and during his stay on the department was a fireman for eight years. He is highly qualified for the position and during his stay at the station before, things were kept remarkably clean and his services were very satisfactory to the council.

A question arose about an open ditch which runs by the power house, east and west, and then south by the alley between Julian and Perkins street. It was stated at the council that the traction company would help in the closing of the ditch, as it is detrimental to the L. & C. car barns, and is an unsanitary thing to have in the city limits. The sewer committee was asked to look into the matter of closing the ditch.

DELANCY MAHAN, BORN 79 YEARS AGO DIES

Former Citizen of This County Expires Suddenly at His Home in Shelbyville.

IS KNOWN AND RELATED HERE.

Word has been received here by relatives of the death of Delancy Mahan, aged 79 years, which occurred yesterday afternoon at his home in Shelbyville. He was born in this county but has been a resident of Shelbyville for the past twenty-five years. The death comes as a shock to his many relatives and friends in this county as he became ill at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning and died two hours later.

He leaves his widow and seven children, Will and Ben, of Shelbyville, Miss Alta Mahan, also of Shelbyville, Mrs. Wendling and Mrs. George Hardesty, of this county; Mrs. Gertie Barnagrove, of Shelbyville; and Mrs. Nettie McKay, of Oakland, Cal. His brothers, who survive are Sam Mahan and Martin Mahan, of this county, and Jerome, of Newcastle. The funeral services have not yet been arranged.

DECLARES THAT HE WAS IN MEXICO

General Garza, Commander of Mexican Forces, Says That he Shot
Captain McNabb for Intruding

TEXAN SAW THE PLANE

Washington May Drop The Case as
There is no International Law
Governing Flying.

Laredo, Texas, Sept. 3.—Captain David McNabb was across the border flying over Mexican territory when shot by Mexican soldiers. General Garza, commander of Mexican forces near Nuevo, Laredo, declared today.

General Garza's statement declaring that immediately on learning of the incident, the general proceeded at once to the spot where the shooting occurred. The soldiers of the out-post admitted the shooting declaring the aviators were on Mexican soil.

The commander of the out-post was absent at the time. The Mexican soldiers said, according to General Garza, that they had received many complaints of aviators flying over Mexican soil.

Garza protested against Americans flying over Mexican soil. He said it had been reported that the aviators were flying over the Mexican territory taking photographs.

B. J. Leyendecker, county tax assessor of Webb county, who was on his farm 16 miles north-west of Laredo when Captain McNabb landed and heard the shooting, told the United Press here today that he could furnish evidence by several witnesses that the Americans were not on the Mexican side of the border.

He said that these witnesses would declare the Mexicans fired scores of shots from the Mexican side and that the planes lifted immediately and started to the ranch house.

Captain McNabb is resting easy today and the wound in his head is not though serious.

Action May be Dropped.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Doubt was expressed by high officials here as to whether this government is in the position to take any action against Mexico if it is found that Captain McNabb and his pilot was flying over Mexican soil.

Unofficial reports from Laredo said that Mexican officials declared that this was the case.

While there is no international law governing flying, it was the custom in European countries before the war to fire upon foreign aviators who crossed an international border without permission. This was on the account of the constant fear of spies.

AUTOMOBILE TURNS OVER

Six People Hurt in Accident Near
Rays Crossing

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 3.—Six persons were injured in an automobile accident near Rays Crossing, when a car driven by Charles Fetting of Indianapolis upset on the Shelbyville-Rushville road. In the car with Mr. Fetting were his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Good and daughters Maud and Marie, all of Indianapolis. All the occupants were bruised and stunned. Miss Maud Good's left ear was nearly cut off. Six stitches were required to sew the ear on. The car turned over when the wheels struck some fresh gravel and then landed on its wheels again.

The party was on their way to the home of Martin Good, brother of Joseph Good, who lives in the vicinity of Manila.

GRANTS AN APPROPRIATION

State Board Approves Amount for Washington Tp. School.

The state board of tax commissioners yesterday in Indianapolis granted the $4,000 appropriation for the repair on the school building in Washington township, according to information received by County Auditor McMillin today. The list of appropriations passed upon yesterday by the tax commission was exceedingly large, and three petitions from various counties were turned down. The tax commission will allow an expenditure on things which can be shown them, as being necessary.

WILSON LEAVES ON SPEAKING TOUR

Will Speak in Indianapolis Tomorrow Night in The Coliseum at Fair Grounds.

NO DEFINITE SPEECH.

Senator Watson Breaks up Plan of Anti-Leagues to Start on a
Speaking Tour.

Washington, Sept. 3.—President Wilson leaves Washington this afternoon on his 10,000 mile speaking tour of the United States in an effort to convince the people that the peace treaty should be ratified as it stands.

The first stop for a speech is scheduled at Columbus, O., Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, after which he leaves on the Pennsylvania for Indianapolis. He will arrive in Indianapolis at six tomorrow evening and will speak at the coliseum on the fair grounds at eight o'clock.

He will try to solidify public opinion in favor of the treaty so that pressure will be brought to bear on opposing senators from their home territories in order to change their attitudes.

In an effort to cause irresistible demands for quick ratification, the president, it was learned today, will make bold statements of what he considers the facts in a popular oratorical way.

One of Wilson's principal arguments for ratification is expected to be that the industrial unrest and the present high prices cannot end until real peace is established through acceptance of the treaty.

Senator Watson, it was learned today, was one of those who broke up the plan of anti-league Democratic and Republican senators to follow up the President with anti-league speeches. Senator Reed, democrat, was among the anti-leaguers who was anxious that a special train carrying anti-league senators be sent across the country. Senator Watson, however, regarded this as an extremely bad move and he put his foot down on it hard. He considered that any such plan as this would cause merely a contest between the President and the Senate and besides he realized that the President with the immense prestige of his office, always could draw a much bigger crowd than any senator could hope to attract, and that the President's speeches would be more widely printed than that of any other person.

DROPS SUIT AGAINST PAPER

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 3.—The $10,000 damage suit of Elisha Wiley against the Democrat Publishing Company of Greensburg was dismissed in the circuit Court here today for lack of prosecution. The case follows the publication of an article in a recent political campaign in Decatur County.

NO COURT HELD TODAY

Cases Set for Today and Tomorrow
Struck Off Docket.

Circuit court was dark today, and the outlook for tomorrow was also to be dark, as the cases set for these two days were marked off the docket this morning, and the jury was dismissed, to be called again when needed. Judge Sparks remarked this morning that in all probability, there would be no jury cases tried this week, unless it would be the case set for Friday, which is the case of Schattner vs. Hall. The case set for today, the State vs. Naden, was struck off the docket.

TAXABLES RAISED OVER 16 MILLION

With State Board Increases Added,
Assessments of Rush County Now
Total $68,712,195.

TRIPLED OVER LAST YEAR

Tax Rate Should Not be Over Third
of This Years Providing No More
Revenue is Raised.

The increases in assessments of Rush county property of all classes, put on by the state board of tax commissioners last week, amounted to $16,048,975, according to figures compiled at the county auditor's office, which show that Rush county people will pay taxes next year on property valued at $69,712,195, less the mortgage exemptions, as compared with a valuation this year of $23,263,795.

The increase in taxables this year, under the new law, amounts to $46,448,400. Last year's appraisements lack but $79,190 of being tripled this year; in fact, probably are tripled with the mortgage exemptions added to this year's assessments. They are not shown on the sheet just prepared in the auditor's office. It is apparent that in the light of these figures, the tax rate in any unit of the county for the next year should not be more than one-third of this year's rate, providing the same amount of revenue is raised.

Clerks at the auditor's office completed the assessment sheet for each unit in time for the township advisory boards county council and city council to fix their tax levies for next year, as required by law. The taxing officials had to know the amount of taxables on which they would levy for next year before they could intelligently fix the rate.

A flat increase of twenty percent was made on all lands, lots and improvements in the townships outside the incorporated cities and towns, all real estate and improvements appraisements in Rushville, Carthage and Glenwood were raised twenty-five percent, personal property in the townships was put up thirty percent, forty percent in Rushville and sixty percent in Carthage and Glenwood. An exception in the personal property lists was made of money and notes, which were given at their true cash value in the first place.

The increase in personal property in the county amounted to $2,605,260, the old figures being $10,368,245 and the new total after the additions were made, $12,973,505.

The raise in lots and improvements in dollars and cents totaled $1,164,620, the new total being $5,958,000 as against $4,793,380, which was the figure at which the townships assessors placed them. The increase in lots alone was $288,745 and in improvements, $830,975.

Lands and improvements, as certified to the state board, were assessed at $38,374,290, and with the addition of $7,681,905 as ordered by the state board, they are now valued at $46,056,195. The increase in lands alone was $6,843,030, and in improvements, $838,875.

Public utilities are valued at $3,202,153 on the new assessment sheet.

Rushville city, of course, leads the other units of the county with the largest amount of taxables, the total now amounting to $7,852,260 minus the mortgage exemptions. It was estimated by many that Rushville appraisements would mount to $9,000,000.

Rushville township outside of the city is a close second with taxables amounting to $7,154,200. Posey township is third with $5,885,175 and Anderson township is not far behind with $5,611,390. Union township is next with $5,425,690 and

And the reason that it does is very clear. It has all of the desirable features found in the usual Corn Binder construction and in addition, has several exclusive ones that contribute much to its efficiency, outstanding among which is a wider range of adjustment for accommodating all heights and kinds of corn—an adjustment which can be operated with speed and accuracy. Whether the crop be the supple kafir corn of the Southwest, the large, firm varieties of the Corn Belt, or the short growths mixed with grassy bottoms, this machine will harvest it in a way that will always please. Just keep that fact in mind and in connection with it consider the following which will show you conclusively why the Massey-Harris Corn Binder is the machine best suited to supply your needs.

ACCIDENT RUMORED

This afternoon several people notified the Daily Republican of an automobile accident in which Scott Buell was reported to have been injured, but it was found that it was only a "grape vine" as Mr. Buell was home this afternoon. The accident was supposed to have happened between here and Indianapolis.

FRANCE RESTORES ROADS DESTROYED

Ninety-Eight Percent of Portions
Out of Service Last November
In Service

IS OF TEMPORARY NATURE
Rebuilding of Network of Canals Progressing as Rapidly as Railway Work

(By United Press.)

Paris, (By Mail).—France has restored over 1,250 miles of railroads in the devastated districts since the signing of the armistice. This mileage is in addition to the 1,000 miles which had been provisionally repaired before the actual end of the fighting. Less than 200 miles of destroyed roadbed remain unserviceable.

Of the destroyed railways between Paris and Belgium on the Northern Railway nearly 98 percent of the portions out of service last November have been restored. On the Eastern Railway the restoration has been less complete, but even on this line which suffered heavily on the Champagne and Verdun fronts, over 80 percent of the lines are again being used.

Much of the restoration work has had to be of a temporary nature because of the shortage of materials. The hardest work was encountered in the region about Verdun and along the valley of the Meuse where numerous tunnels and bridges were destroyed. Nearly one half of the restored mileage has been on double track lines.

The rebuilding of the network of canals is progressing almost as rapidly as the railway work. The total destroyed mileage of canals exceeded 700 miles, together with 450 bridges and 115 locks. By October 1 the greater portion of these lines of cheap transportation will have been rebuilt.

Simultaneously with the railroad rebuilding, the factories in many of the "martyred" cities are resuming production on a small scale. Machinery, stolen by the Germans, is being collected in all parts of Germany and shipped back to the almost empty factories in Lille, Laon and St. Quentin. Already over 25,000 tons of stolen machinery and material have been gathered and shipped while even a larger quantity has accumulated in German stations awaiting shipment. This machinery was identified by a French commission.

Though making heroic efforts to reassert herself in the linen industry, the city of Lille is making but little progress because of the absence of spinning machines. Of over 500,000 spindles which were operated in and about Lille before the war less than 12,000 are working now. The others were destroyed or carried away by the Germans. In the meantime Lille believes that the predominance of her linen industry has been lost for all time, as other nations have made a quicker start since the end of the war.

A Strange Doctrine

Article 20 of the league covenant obligates member nations not to enter into treaties inconsistent with the terms thereof. In conformity with that provision the pending treaty of alliance with France contains a paragraph stipulating that it must receive the approval of the league council before it can become effective. Acting upon the thought suggested by that provision Senator Brandegee, at the White House conference, asked the president if he thought it was constitutionally proper for the senate to approve a treaty the validity of which was to be left to a third party. Mr. Wilson replied that he saw no objection to such a procedure.

The constitution lodges in the president and senate the sole treaty-making power. There is not a suggestion in that instrument that their joint action must be validated by another agency before it can be effective. Certainly nothing could have been further from the thoughts of the farmers of the constitution than that a council of foreigners should be required to give assent to what an American president and the American senate had determined upon as the wise policy for the United States to follow.

Make Things Plentiful

There is only one way to make things cheap. Make them plentiful. We can, of course, place upon the market large quantities of disused war supplies. We can seize hoarded provisions, and put them in the consumer's hands at a largely reduced price. But that is only a drop in the bucket. The relief is only temporary.

To say "ratify the treaty" demands a certain quality of boldness. There are many who, from the highest sense of principle, oppose the treaty, where it concerns the league. It is not to be ratified blindly. But certain it is that the present condition of political suspension is producing economic suspension. If the treaty is not ratified we do not know the nature of our relations with any country on the globe. We know nothing about the reestablishment of trade balances. We know very little about the probable disposition of raw materials. The ambiguity of our relations with Russia alone is, no doubt largely responsible for the present price of shoes. And cereals, for that matter.

It is certain that the conflicting parties in this country can get together, European powers did so, and their interests are by no means as uniform as we think. But they have had enough experience with treaties to be less afraid of them than we are. They are subject to construction. They are flexible. There is a great difference between regarding them as scraps of paper and being bound hand and foot by the letter of each clause. Conditions will continue to arise in the future which were not contemplated by the terms of an agreement drawn at a time when they could not have been foreseen.

Switzerland, having been invited to join the league of nations, announces that she will do so on one condition that she is never called on to go to war, and is never to be coerced in any way. Should Switzerland be permitted to make such reservations as these and the United States denied the right to make any whatever?

American Clothing Picturesque
When Donned by Balkan People

American civilian clothing may be conventional when worn by Americans, but when it is donned by the Balkan mountaineer it immediately becomes picturesque. They accomplish this not by changing the color or cut, but by the way in which they apply the garments and by the way they combine with their own clothing.

Recently a party of American Red Cross women distributed garments to 600 mountaineers in this district. Then they left for another station, but returned later to open up a soup kitchen and feeding station. On their arrival at Petesti they were greeted by the beneficiaries of a week ago, clad in their new American clothes.

"It was a wonderful transformation," said one of the Red Cross workers. "The children wore the pinafores as waists and the white underwear as bloomers. The girls had worked colored designs in the stockings and had evolved a style all their own out of the sweaters. Mountain flowers in their hair and about their clothes completed the costumes in many cases."

The mountain districts have suffered intensely from the war. For five years they have been able to obtain no clothing and very little food from the surrounding towns. The American distribution, now under way, are a big event in the various towns and are celebrated in an appropriate manner. The children strew flowers in the path of the arriving American workers, and elaborate ceremonies precede the presentation. In Petesti mountaineers responded to the presentation of clothing by presenting very formally to the Red Cross workers, a basket containing two eggs, all that could be obtained in the district.

WOOD ONE CAUSE OF HIGH PRICES

There is Scarcely a Commodity That is Not Shipped in a Wood Container.

MUST ADOPT FOREST, POLICY

Forestry Association Asks for Views on This Greatest of Our Reconstruction Problems.

By CHARLES LATHROP PACK
(Written for United Press.)

Pres. Amer. Forestry Association.
Washington, Aug. 27.—In figuring out your monthly grocery bills you find "that things have gone up" and in any mental battle with the high cost of living you almost confine your struggle to food. Go back of food a step and you will find many things that increase the cost of the food you eat, although you cannot eat those things. The chief item of the list is wood.

In fact, wood is one of the chief reasons for the high cost of living and the American Forestry association calls attention to this with some startling figures. For example the box in which your berries or peaches are displayed at market costs about three times what it did in "the good old days." The barrel in which your flour found its way to the grocer has gone up in price. The paper in which your meat is wrapped is "away up." None of these things can be put through your digestive apparatus with any degree of success but the consumer pays his share in the price of the berries, the flour, the peaches or the meat.

There is scarcely a commodity that is not shipped or handled in a wood container of some sort. To say nothing of home consumption, the United States was exporting about three and a half billion board feet of lumber every year before the war.

Then the war called for wood. It went into temporary structures of every description such as camps, hospitals, recreation huts and the like. We must come up with a sharp turn on the lumber question. A national forest policy must be adopted in this country or we face economic suicide. The American Forestry Association asks for the views of lumbermen, timberland owners and foresters on this greatest of our reconstruction problems in order that a definite policy may be arrived at.

We have just fought and won the fight to save us from imperial aggression, but the fight to save us from economic ruin is just ahead of us. Are we going to let the sacrifice of our heroes go for naught? What of the future in an economic sense? The situation is just this:

The original forest area of the United States was eight hundred and fifty million acres.

There now remains in virgin timber about two hundred and thirty million acres, or one-fourth of the original.

Our total acreage of forest and cut-over lands is about five hundred million acres. One hundred million acres of this is waste land which produces nothing and one hundred and eighty million acres more contain more or less second growth. A large percentage of this second growth timber is inferior quality.

The new growth of timber is not more than one-third of the amount which is being used or destroyed every year.

There is plenty of food in that last paragraph but it is food for thought. What of our home building program when we realize that the center of our lumber industry is fast moving to the Pacific Coast? What of our home building program when we realize that New England is no longer self supporting in lumber and that the Lake states, once our greatest producers of lumber, are now importers of it from other states? This means long hauls and high freight rates which the home builder must pay. The time to build a home is now for without a national forest policy I do not believe cheaper lumber can be predicted.

The forests of France, millions of acres of which are now in ruins, kept the Hun from reaching Paris. Other vast acreages had to be cut down for war purposes. Civilization can thank France for having a forest policy of more than a hundred years standing. Her forests answered the call of war when war came. Had the war come fifteen years later we would have been pressed to meet the lumber program. Let us heed the call of the forests before it is too late.

Paramount Pictures Continue
Wallace Reid will appear at the Princess theatre tonight in what is said to be one of the fastest and most highly entertaining comedy dramas of his career. "You're Fired!" is the characteristic title. The picture is an adaptation by Clara G. Kennedy, of one of O. Henry's best stories.

It is a highly colorful production and is guaranteed to keep any audience smiling, the comedy being of a delightful and refreshing nature. There are also several dramatic situations, the most impressing of which is the foiling by the hero of an attempt by a trio of crooks to steal an important document belonging to the father of the girl, whom the hero wants to marry, and which is much desired by an unscrupulous business rival of the father.

Wallace Reid plays the role of a young man upon whom is imposed the difficult task of holding a job for three months without being fired, as a condition precedent to his marrying the daughter of a financier and railroad owner. The fun comes in when he discovered by his sweetie, who he has promised the father shall not know of their agreement; first as a xylophone player in an orchestra and later as part of the atmosphere in a little old Italian restaurant and is unable to explain to her why he is engaged in such trivial work.

But at the finish he wins out, because he saves his daddy-to-be a few millions by recovering a stolen paper.

Vitagraph Star at Mystic.

Beth was only a little boarding house drudge, and there was little of happiness in her life, but she believed every word of the fairy tales she read and, therefore, believed in the world's goodness and in trying to make others happy. And so when she ran across a strange little baby without any home, she became a little mother to it, little dreaming the child belonged to a great millionaire and had been kidnapped.

Not so long afterwards, Beth found herself without any home and the kind housekeeper in the millionaire's mansion gave her shelter. Beth learned the lady of the house way of doing of grief because she had lost her baby, and so she went and got the child she had been mothering and agreed to "lend" it to the grieving mother. And it proved to be her own child, and the mother got well and every dream of love and happiness of which Beth had read in her fairy tales came to her.

Gladys Leslie has one of her most appealing roles as Beth, in "Fortune's Child," which is her third release in the Vitagraph Star Series, and which will be seen in the Mystic Theatre tonight.

Treat Your Seed Wheat
Prevent Stinking Smut

Last year's results gave conclusive proof of the value of FORMALDEHYDE. To treat your wheat is money earned. We quote County Agent Marion F. Detrick, who outlines the following directions:

"Sprinkle the seed until thoroughly moist with a solution of one pint of 40 % Formaldehyde to 40 gallons of water, shoveling over repeatedly to distribute the moisture evenly. Forty gallons of the solution will treat sixty bushels of grain. Shovel into a pile and cover with sacks, blankets or canvas for at least two hours, but not more than five. Dry by spreading a thin layer and stirring occasionally with a shovel or rake. The seed may be sown when dry enough to run through the drill, setting the drill to sow one or two pecks more per acre to allow for the swollen condition of the grain. If it is to be stored for several days or longer, dry thoroughly. Disinfect sacks, bins and drill to prevent re-infection."

TREATING STINKING SMUT

County Agent Will Have Demonstration on Friday.

County Agent M. F. Detrick was conducting a demonstration this afternoon at the home of Ernest Beringer, on the Alvan Moor farm, north of the city, to treat the wheat for the stinking smut. The formaldehyde treatment was used. A similar demonstration will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Earl George, just this side of New Salem, and the county agent stated that any farmer interested in these treatments is invited to attend the meeting. Such demonstrations will be held from time to time to get rid of the stinking smut.

The Big Four railroad appeared before the council last night with a proposition for the supplying of water by a meter in their tank, near the station. The contract which they had, was not like the original one placed by the council, and the railroad company will be asked to draw up another contract, using the rates as given them on last September.

The 1919 acts of the legislature compels any plant supplying water for human consumption, to be analysed annually by the State Board of Health, and a report was read last night of the condition of the water of Rushville. The board was highly pleased with the water, and remarked that it was healthful. This should ease the minds of anyone who might have been afraid of typhoid with the new wells which were only recently thrown into the city reservoir.

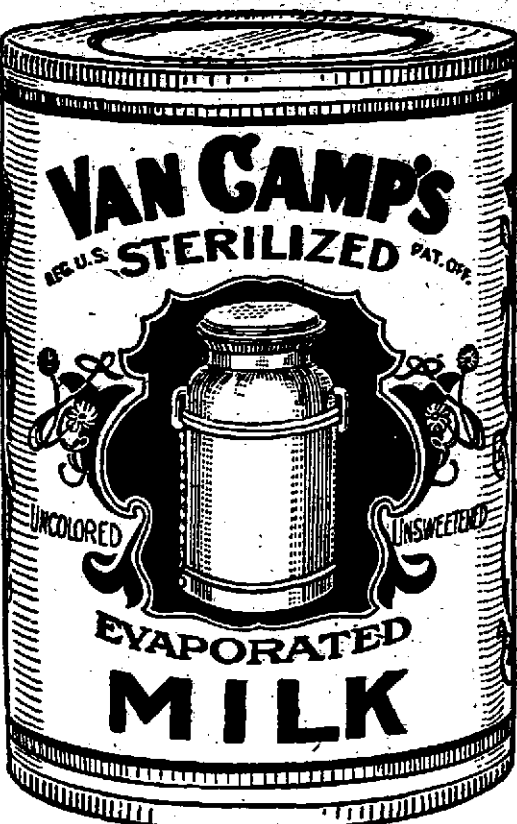

City Health Officer, Dr. J. B. Kinsinger appeared before the council, asking that he be given aid for a certain period, in making investigations as to the cleanliness of the city. He said that he was receiving many calls daily about unsanitary conditions, and that he could not investigate them all. He said that the health conditions should be put into the best of shape now, before winter. He said among the complaints which he had received, were five hog pens, within the city limits, which is a violation of a city ordinance.

The council decided to allow Dr. Kinsinger a health inspector for an indefinite period, and a crusade of people's back yards will be made, and a general cleaning up of the unhealthy conditions will be made. Dr. Kinsinger will direct the campaign. Frank Havenis, former poe means that he is to get pay today. He will be remembered as being a policeman, was appointed today to be the health inspector.

The council also instructed Chief of Police Seward to purchase handcuffs of the latest design, and see to it that each policeman has a pair. He was also told to see to it that the police carry the handcuffs and not leave them in the police headquarters under a lock and key.

It was expected that the tax levy for next year would be decided upon, but it was not ready, and as they are allowed until September 15th to make the budget, it was decided that a meeting will be held on Monday night for this purpose.

A Creamy Milk Of Double Richness—Ever at Your Call

"The Cow in the Pantry"

Van Camp's Milk

The Finest Milk Produced In America

A Sterilized Milk From High-Bred Cows From Inspected Cows From Sanitary Dairies

The Result of 20 Years of Expert Effort to Produce a Super-Grade

Van Camp Products Co.
Indianapolis, Ind.

Double Butter Fat

All the Van Camp condenseries are surrounded by sanitary dairies filled with high-bred cows.

The fresh milk is brought in and placed in a vacuum. There, by low heat, more than half the water is evaporated.

Then we have a milk as thick as thick cream—twice as rich as it came from the cow.

If you want a rich cream for coffee, cereals, or ice cream, you can use Van Camp's as it is. If you want rich milk, dilute it with an equal part of water. For cooking, dilute it further.

Cheaper—Richer—Safer

Van Camp's costs less than bottled milk. It is vastly cheaper, because it saves all waste.

Keep small cans and large cans on the pantry shelf. Open what you wish.

Thus you have milk or cream for any purpose. Never a shortage, never a waste.

You have a sterilized milk—the only safe sort for infants or for drinking.

You have for your cooking a full-cream milk, instead of the usual skimmed milk.

An Extraordinary Milk

We have worked 20 years to attain for you the utmost in a milk. It comes from healthy, high-bred cows. It is protected in all scientific ways.

Compare it with other milk, bottled or in cans. You will find Van Camp's the milk you want.

Order from your grocer, and today.

Farmers, Attention!

City to Enlarge Light Plant At Estimated Cost of $30,000

The matter of building an annex to the water and light plant was taken up, and a building will have to be built in order to take care of the new equipment. A committee was appointed to look into this matter and decide about the cost, and see whether or not an architect should be employed to draw up the plans and specifications. With the present high cost, an annex will be approximately in the neighborhood of $6,000 or $7,000.

The question was brought up as to where the money for building this addition, was to be had, and it was learned that there remains now in the Water and Light fund a balance of $13,000 and the six months collections for the remainder of this year are not in yet, which will bring the amount up to within a few thousand dollars, of the $30,000 mark, which is the estimated cost on the new building, equipment and extending of the headers at the plant, into the new structure.

Mayor Irvin was in consultation yesterday with a member of the State Tax Board, and he stated that they would not refuse the granting of more money on next year's budget, if it was needed. Mayor Irvin then was explaining about the fire truck which the city has been thinking of buying, and it is almost a certainty that the question of money will not keep the new plant from being built. The council will receive bills for the equipment on Thursday, Sept. 25th.

COUNTY COUNCIL FINISHES TODAY

Were Working on the Tax Levy for 1920 This Afternoon and Session Will End Today.

REFUSES CO. AGENT MONEY

Also Refuse Appropriation of $2680 For Architects Who Drew Up Plans for Infirmary.

The county council was in session again today, and it was thought that they would fix the tax levy today, and finish the work which was before them. The budget calling for the appropriation of $11,004.50 was being discussed.

The county council denied three requests for appropriations and tentatively agreed on other items of the county commissioner's budget, before adjourning late yesterday afternoon.

One of the appropriations refused was $2,680 to pay McGuire and Shook of Indianapolis, the architects who drew the plans and specifications for the proposed county infirmary. The sum would have been paid out of funds derived by a bond issue to build the infirmary, but since permission to issue bonds for that purpose was denied by the state board of tax commissioners, the county commissioners had no other alternative but to ask the council for an appropriation to pay the claim. What will be done with it is not known because the commissioners have no fund from which they can pay the architects.

The county council also refused to appropriate any money to pay the expenses of the county agriculture agent. Many maintain that the county is compelled to pay the agents office expenses, under a state law, since the state and United States government contributed to wards his salary. However, the refusal of the council to appropriate indicates that they want to test the law providing an effort is made to collect the money alleged due the county agent for next year, also some back on this year.

The council also denied the request of the county commissioners for $30,000 to be used to build new bridges. It is said that in the past the bridges and the estimated amount they will cost have always been itemized in the commissioners budget, but this year commissioners asked for a lump sum, based on their belief of the new bridges which would be needed during the year.

MRS. LLOYD GEORGE

Wife of the prime minister of Great Britain.

The Lulline Council, No. 296, will hold their regular meeting Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock in the Red Men's Hall.

The Misses Jean Sparks, Margery Sparks, of Greenfield, Janet Deau, Josephine School, Margery Clark, and Elizabeth Pierson formed a mortoring party today and attended the State Fair in Indianapolis.

About forty guests were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Canley in North Morgan street last evening, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Geraghty and family of Spokane, Wash. A delicious pitch-in supper was served, after which the time was spent socially.

A large crowd of relatives of the Leisure family from this city attended the annual Leisure reunion held at Mounds Park, Anderson, last Thursday. A basket dinner was served at noon followed by a splendid program, consisting of readings and several selections by the Anderson Orchestra. Following the program a group picture was taken of the family and the remaining hours was spent socially.

Mrs. Lowell Norris and Mrs. Walter Norris entertained with an informal party yesterday afternoon at the home of the former, southeast of the city, honoring Miss Helen Norris, a bride elect. The rooms were decorated in a color scheme of pink and green, the same colors predominating in the dainty refreshments that were served late in the afternoon to the thirty-five guests who were present.

Mrs. Phoebe Phillips delightfully entertained twenty-one members of the Penny Social of the W. R. C. and six guests at her home in Arlington yesterday. At noon a beautiful pitch-in-dinner was served. A short business session was held in the afternoon which was followed by a program. Mrs. Mary Poston recited a poem "Under the Flag". The remainder of the afternoon was spent socially and refreshments of watermelon was served at a late hour. Mrs. Elizabeth Pearsey and children, of Muncie, were the guests.

A pretty church wedding was solemnized this morning at the Catholic church when Miss Nellie Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hayes, became the bride of George Todd, of this city. The attendants were Miss Katherine Hayes, sister of the bride, and Patrick Todd, of Greenfield.

Immediately following the ceremony, an elaborate wedding breakfast was given at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, of near Raleigh. The rooms were decorated in the color scheme of pink and white, astors being used in profusion. The bride's table was the center attraction being beautifully decorated with pink and white asters. Covers were laid for seventy-five guests for the breakfast.

Both the bride and groom are well known in this city. Mr. Todd, who has recently been discharged from the navy is now employed at the Caldwell Furniture store. They will make their future home in this city.

Immortal Sayings Not a Hit Nowadays

By MARGARET RHODE

(Written for United Press.)

If you are dying to be chic Here's what you'll have to do Just get some lace to make a frock And then let it dye too.

New York, Sept. 3—That immortal phrase of Barnaby Rudge's raven "Never say die" would make little hit nowadays in the fashionable world. This season everyone's ravin' instead "You simply must dye" at least when it is a question of lace.

Not only the lovely lace net and shadow lace gowns and frocks are popular in black but all the lace gown in pastel shades and even vivid tints are the last gasp of a dying season and a dyeing fashion.

Even the real laces of hand made lineage have not escaped the dyers dire pot and filet chumy and torehon insets on frocks of linen, taffeta and crepe de chine are all dyed up to match exactly their accompanying material.

Indeed the combining of linen lace with a silken fabric such as crepe de chine or taffeta is one of the latest Paris fads and when the lace does not exactly match the gown shade in hue it is done in a most striking contrasting tone.

For example a favorite combination of color is a Nattier blue taffeta trimmed in bands of heavy jonquil yellow lace.

An all grey taffeta with grey filet in a charming cloud effect that needs no silver lining, but relies wholly on a flesh toned satin one instead.

In the all over lace and lace and net frocks of fluffy three tiered ruffled skirts and flowing elbow sleeves or else above the elbow weaves, sort of 2.75 percent sleeves, the grey dye shades the shadow lace to a veritable shadowy hue. A lovely orchid dye, makes old lace and lavender one and the same and is one of the most exquisitely lovely colorings for these dyed lace gowns.

Oyster white, cafe au lait, biscuit, apricot, peach, citron and salmon are all delicatessen tints that appeal to Fashion's jaded sartorial appetite as delectable hues for lace frocks. These neutral tones and pastel shades are usually relieved with a vivid streak of contrasting color in the form of a narrow picot edged ribbon knotted with flowing ends about the waist.

These dangling ends of narrow ribbons are by no means the end of such ends however for we are to have no end of ends again in a return of fringe even more virulent than our first attack of it. We are to be simply all fringed about with fringe. Entire gowns made of narrow ribbon fringe over satin slips have the ends held in leash only at the neck line, belt and arm holes while the floating ends away free and unrestrained to form the skirt and sleeves.

These fringe dresses formed of knotted silk fringe are stunning but a bit startling of black fringe over a white satin slip or vice versa.

They are sketchy to say the least and seem to call loudly for a ukulele or poi.

As a close cousin to fringe is the frayed finish to taffeta frocks. Bands of the taffeta raveled on both edges and gathered through the middle like ruching makes a trimming not unlike the favorite feather flutrimming that feathers our best. So be not afraid to don a frayed frock it is a sure winner in fashion's affray.

PROBABLY LAST MEET HELD

Persimmon Brigade of Civil War is Thinned by Death.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3—For thirty-four years the Persimmon Brigade of Civil War fame has met, recalled old times and adjourned. Today its members met again in probably the last meeting. The ranks have been thinned by death and those still living are becoming too feeble from the ravages of time to journey to meetings.

The brigade consists of the 115th, 116th, and 118th Indiana Volunteer Infantry companies, who brought fame to Hoosierdom during '65.

educational Lectures are Held For Exhibitors in The Fine Art Department Today.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3.—The rowing crowds at the State Fair today indicated the increasing interest in the exposition out in the state, and with favorable weather the management is expecting its old attendance record to be broken. All the wheels were turning in the fair's machinery department today, the hands were playing and the full program of special attractions was under way. In the show rings Belgian horses, Shorthorn and Hereford beef cattle and Guernsey in the dairy breed were features in the contests for blue ribbons, while Poland China and Hampshires were shown in the swine contests. The attention of the crowd was concentrated on the poultry show, while the fine arts in the new women's building and the automobile show in the new manufacturers' building drew thousands of sight seers.

The distinctive feature of the day was to be the racing race this afternoon between Single G. (L: 59
—4) and Miss Harris M. (1:58
—4) in a three heat contest for a special purse of $4,000. These pacers are both owned in Indiana and are the fastest pacers in the world.

With track conditions favorable it was expected that the record of the Indiana course would be broken, while a new record mark for pacers was anticipated.

Another feature was educational lectures for exhibitors in the fine arts department, made by the judges of pictures, needlework, decorated china and similar displays, in which the judges explained why ribbons had been tied on some exhibits and why other exhibitors failed to win.
The purpose of the lectures was to help exhibitors improve their craftsmanship products which are shown at the Indiana fair in future years.
The lectures were held in the auditorium of the womens building.

Beautiful fresh flowers may be ordered here for delivery on a few hours' notice even in the most distant towns and cities.
Our service extends all over the United States, Canada, Ireland and England.

If you have a sick friend to whom you wish to send flowers, or one who has just passed away and you wish a spray of flowers sent in token of your remembrance and esteem of them, it matters not how far the city may be, we can deliver them for you on time. The order will be wired, code form, to the leading florist, he in turn will fill same, using always the best flowers to be had, and will deliver promptly even though he has to drive with them to a neighboring town.

To begin with only the best florists are chosen as members of

U. S. DRY FORCES INVADE ENGLAND

John Bull Don't Know Whether to be Amused, Scared or Angry
About the Future Prospects

WILL COMMENCE THIS FALL

William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson
Has Established Headquarters
In London

(By United Press.)
London (By Mail)—British "dry" forces, reinforced by the Anti-Saloon League of America, are completing their plans, and marshalling their "sturmtroepen" for a mighty offensive commencing this Fall. And Johnny Bull is sitting up and watching with considerable interest, uncertain whether he ought to be amused, scared or angry.

Immediately the lid went on in the United States, William E. "Pussy-foot" Johnson, "Field-marshal Commander-in-Chief" of America's "dry army," established a branch G. H.
Q. in London, and proceeded to show local prohibitionists just how to wage war on booze. Hitherto, although there had been an occasional prohibition movement in Great Britain, the "drys" had made very little headway, the only really prominent man identified with the movement being the late Sir Wilfrid Lawson, who aroused controversy some years back by emptying his inherited wine-cellar down the drains.

Prohibition was represented in England by the United Kingdom Alliance, but the organization was not well equipped with funds, and was so out of date in its methods that the "wets" ceased to regard its members as anything more dangerous than "bum-wallahs," a strange sect who participated in orgies of tea-drinking and bun consumption.
But "Pussyfoot" Johnson has changed all this.

Canon Masterman, president of the U. K. A. recently visited America to find out how the "wets" there had been overwhelmed. He fixed up an alliance with the Anti-Saloon league with the result that another
A. E. F. was soon on the high seas.

Johnson established himself quietly in Fleet street—the home of newspapers and publicity, but so skillfully were his opening moves made, that he succeeded in avoiding attracting attention for some months. Then he disclosed himself.
It would be rash to suggest that he captured the powerful Northcliffe Press, but it says much for his generalship and tactics that he managed to secure a magnificent advertisement out of a hostile organization.

Lord Northcliffe's papers discovered his presence and taking up the role of Dickens' Fat Boy, the Daily Mail proceeded to make Johnny Bull's flesh creep with lengthy stories of "Pussyfoot's" aims, antecedents, methods and chances of success. J. Bull was slightly amused but as the whole Northcliffe artillery—the Times, Weekly Dispatch, Evening News, Daily Mirror, and others—joined in the attack British "wets" began to realize that they must get busy.

A big defensive campaign was opened, and hair-raising stories of American prohibition methods were published, stories of Machiavellian cunning, hysterical campaigning and Napoleonic victories. The "wets" tearfully appealed to that much criticized autocrat, the British Working Man to repudiate the sponsors of grapejuice and similar
"soft" drinks with fantastic names.
They reminded him of his old war-cry "Damn his eyes, whoever he tries, to rob a poor man of his beer." And they succeeded in making Mr. B. W. M. sit up and think "there might be something in it."

Meanwhile the much discussed
"Pussyfoot" Johnson, satisfied with his first demonstration, had departed for Finland to organize an offensive in northern Europe, but he left a promise to return in the fall. The full weight of the counter-offensive accordingly fell upon the poor old United Kingdom Alliance, which "frightfully bucked by the prominence given to its aims, and the promise of solid support from American "drys," nevertheless wilted before the storm of protest.

The announcement that many leading American temperance orators are on their way to England to take part in the fray gave the "wets" a popular battle-cry, with the inevitable warning "Hands Off America, Mind your own interference," or words to that effect. The U. K. A. hurried forward with a flat denial, but investigation proved conclusively that the Anti-Saloon League had volunteered to pay expenses of their orators.

In any event "Pussyfoot" Johnson has made a remarkably good start. Moreover, he has arrived at the most favorable possible moment.
War-time drink restrictions are being gradually pruned down, but everybody agrees that a return to the pre-war hours for saloon opening and the sale of intoxicants is impossible and undesirable.

On the other hand British workers, and in fact the British people as a whole, are fond of a glass of beer.
They don't need fancy drinks, but they will have beer.

START FIGHT ON CROWDING

Official of Japan Advocated Elimination of First Class

(By United Press.)

Tokyo, (By Mail).—As an evidence of the advance of democracy in Japan, plans are under consideration by Home Minister Tokomami, president of the Imperial Government Railway board, to end the overcrowding of third-class cars while first-class cars are pulled along almost empty.

This official advocates elimination of the first class altogether. The railways are able to run he says, because of the revenue from the third-class cars, and it is proposed that those who provide the bulk of the funds shall have some of the comforts. New coaches are, therefore, under construction with comfortable seats instead of the present bench-like accommodations.

RELATIONS TWIXT
U.S. AND JAPS GOOD

Viscount Ishii Said That There is no Collision of Vital Interest Between Two Countries

INTEREST NOT IN ORIENT

America's Safety in Orient Lies in Her Developing China Industrially And Commercially.

(By United Press.)

Tokyo, (By Mail).—An entirely optimistic view in regard to the future relations of Japan and the United States was expressed by Viscount Ishii, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, who has just returned to Japan, in an interview the other day. The Viscount said that there is no collision of vital interests between the two countries on any problems, although it is inevitable that now and then propagandists will talk about a Japan-American war, and some people will believe that relations between the two nations are badly strained.

He attributes all misunderstandings between the two Powers to the intrigues of propagandists, some of whom are active in China, he said. America's vital interests are mainly in the European and Latin-American markets and not in the Orient market, the Viscount said. Therefore, America is contented with the strict observance by the powers of the open-door and equal-opportunity principle in China, and has never dreamed of an economic monopolization of the Chinese market nor will she dream of such a thing.

America's safety in the extreme Orient, continued the Viscount, lies in her developing China industrially and commercially hand in hand with Japan as well as with other Powers, but not in trying to monopolize Chinese national resources. Though the Oriental market, especially that in China, may be of vital interest to Japan, Ishii does not believe those interests are being endangered by the American participation in the industrial exploitation of China, because, however wealthy the American capitalists may be, they cannot be considered as aspiring to pour the greater part of their capital into enterprises in that country to such degree that no other country can compete with them.

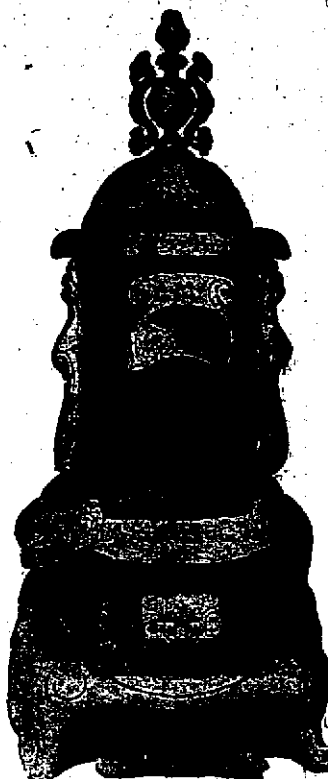

Since the American Government, as well as the American people in general, are confident that Japan will never destroy the principles of the open door and equal opportunity in China thinking people there feel quite safe and satisfied with the present situation. For the same reason Ishii approves of the American proposition of the consortium for China. He says it will be very advantageous, not only to China herself but also to Japan and America, for two reasons: First, it will do away with useless economic competition among the Powers interested in Chinese finances and economies, and secondly, it will serve to put an end to the activities of propagandists.

Referring to the Chinese peace delegates' refusal to sign the Peace Treaty, he said this action was very disadvantageous and that would soon be brought home to China that it is advisable to sign.

FARM ITEMS FROM HERE

Fifty per cent of the Floyd county farmers who own their own land are endeavoring to buy ground limestone and apply it on their land this fall, County Agent C. U. Watson reports. A number who are seeking to prevent long hauls with the stone have purchased crushers and are grinding their own stone.

A number of Steuben County farmers purchased five cars of a light grade fertilizer for fall use, at a cost of $6,000. The order was cancelled when inquiry to the county agent and state chemist revealed that the fertilizer was not up to standards and an order was placed for a better brand. The district agent resigned and took a position with the company handling the fertilizer.

Brunswick Principles
In Fine Tire Making

The reason you are interested in the name on your tire is that it identifies the maker. By knowing the maker you can judge his ideals of manufacture.

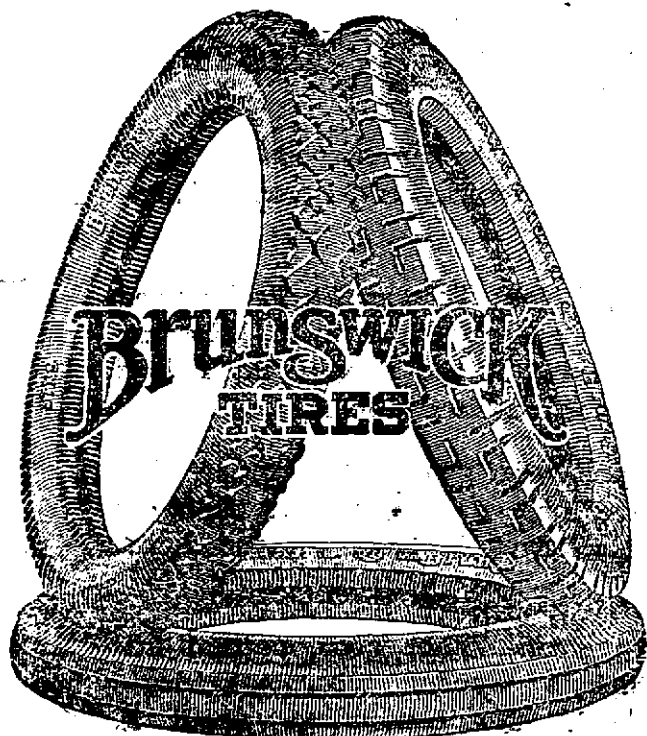

The only secret of a super-tire lies in the principles of the maker. His standards decide the quality. For there are no secrets in the tire industry.

What you get depends on what is behind the name on your tire. Brunswick, as you know, means a very old concern, jealous of its good name. Since 1845 the House of Brunswick has been famous the world over for the quality of its products.

The Brunswick Tire is all that you expect—and more. Your first one will be a revelation. You'll agree that you've never known a better. And you'll tell your friends. So spreads the news among motorists. The Brunswick is the most welcome tire that ever came to market.

Try one Brunswick Tire. Learn how good a tire can be built. And remember, it costs no more than like-type tires.

At the request of the county superintendent of schools County Agent Bausman of White county has prepared an outline for the testing of agriculture in the rural schools of the county. It will act as a guide for all teachers in the county.

The importance of cleaning wheat twice, that is to be used as seed has been shown by County Agent M. A. Nye, Union county, on the farm of Irving LaFuze. Out of five counts of wheat put through the fanning mill at a high rate of speed to remove the joint worm, an average of 12 grains out of every 100 were shriveled and unfit for seed. Five counts after running the grain through a second time at a slower rate showed that only one grain in every 100 was unfit for seed.

A grain dealer of Lima, Ohio, has purchased three rundown farms in Steuben county, Indiana, and will follow the directions of the county agent in building them up. He will use limestone, fertilizer, legumes and a system of crop rotations. Silos will be erected on each farm to encourage livestock production.

Ground limestone gave an increase of 11 bushels of barley per acre when used on acid soil in Jay county. County Agent Leroy Hoffman has arranged for elevators of Portland to keep limestone on hand the year round so that farmers may purchase and haul it home as they bring grain or other produce to market.

"Nip" and "Tuck" are the names given two pigs belonging to Loren and to Roy Teutsch of near Butler, DeKalb county. Both are members of the pig club started by the farmers' institute there. The pigs are running so closely in the feeding contest that these names were chosen by their young owners.

Threshing ring captains in Hancock county are co-operating with County Agent M. E. Cromer to demonstrate the treatment of seed wheat to prevent smut. They are calling all the men in the ring together at a central point so that the county agent, assisted by the captains of the rings, can show the method of treatment with formaldehyde and the value of it.

Rev. Homer Campbell, formerly pastor of the Kingston church, will occupy the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday both morning and evening.

How to Feed Acme Pig Meal

ACME PIG MEAL is a full and complete and balanced ration for all pigs until they are 3½ to 4 months of age, and NO OTHER ration should be fed with ACME PIG MEAL which contains 28½ per cent of protein, the highest per cent of protein of any complete ration, barring none.

ACME PIG MEAL is fed to BROOD SOWS, SUCKLING PIGS, WEANED PIGS and FATTENING HOGS.

ACME PIG MEAL should be fed from birth to maturity, and when you feed a ration of Acme PIG MEAL it is equal to feeding a ration of MILK.

ACME PIG MEAL is fed in self feeders, or as a slop. When fed as a slop mix one pint of ACME PIG MEAL with 7 pints of water, which makes a gallon. In the instructions following, when we speak of a "GALLON" will mean one pint of ACME PIG MEAL and 7 pints of water.

BROOD SOWS not suckling, on dry feed. Feed one gallon of ACME PIG MEAL to 2 sows twice per day, and a pound of corn at noon. If you do not have corn, increase the ACME PIG MEAL.

BROOD SOWS SUCKLING. Feed 1 gallon of ACME PIG MEAL 2 or 3 times per day to each sow in connection with other feed.

SUCKLING PIGS. Build a "creep" and give the suckling pigs all the ACME PIG MEAL they will eat; either fed "dry" in Self Feeders, or as a slop. PIGS so fed will wean themselves with the sows at about 8 weeks of age. AFTER THE PIGS ARE WEANED, feed all the ACME PIG MEAL they will eat. DO NOT feed anything else with ACME PIG MEAL (except pasture) until they are 3½ to 4 months of age; then add some corn or other fat producing feeds. The first month each pig will eat about 6 pounds of ACME PIG MEAL, and after they are weaned will eat about 15 pounds of ACME PIG MEAL per month each. ACME PIG MEAL is equal to milk, and the only ration upon which PIGS WILL WEAN THEMSELVES, retain the BABY PIG FAT, prevent the RUNTS and SET-BACKS, and make pigs pay.

WEANED PIGS, 3½ to 4 months of age. Feed one gallon of ACME PIG MEAL (meaning one pint of ACME PIG MEAL and 7 pints of water) to 4 pigs twice per day, and add to this ration corn and other fat producing feeds.

FATTENING HOGS. Feed the ACME PIG MEAL in Self Feeders to hogs on full feed, or feed one gallon of ACME PIG MEAL to 4 hogs twice per day, if fed as a slop. ACME PIG MEAL contains 28½ per cent protein, and will balance the grain ration, the same as MILK, and at half the cost of TANKAGE.

NOTICE—When ACME PIG MEAL is fed, do not feed TANKAGE, as it is unnecessary.

CUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING
By baking your own bread from
CLARK'S PURITY FLOUR

One barrel of 196 pounds will make 283 loaves of bread, which at 10c each would amount to $28.30. CLARK'S PURITY FLOUR retails at $13.00 per barrel, then the housewife who bakes her bread will save $14.70 per barrel, less the seasoning and fuel for baking; hence a long step in the direction of reducing the high cost of living would be accomplished.

Big Lot of Hay Fever Jokes

But Kentucky Man Says—"People Who Belong to Hay Fever Colony are Kidding Themselves."

Wouldn't Be Any Rose or Hay Fever if Simple Home Remedy Was Given a Chance.

"Yes, there's a real NINETY-NINE per cent effective remedy for hay or rose fever," frankly states a druggist in a prosperous Kentucky city. "But I don't expect anyone to believe me, because the treatment is so easy and the cost not worth mentioning."

"The annual crop of hay-fever jokes would be mighty scarce if people would get an ounce of Mentholized Arcine and by just adding water that has been boiled make a pint of liquid that will prove a real help to all who suffer."

"Many of my hay-fever friends tell me that by starting to gargle and sniff or spray the nostrils a few times a day the expected severe attack often fails to appear and in cases where it does show up is very mild and does not annoy."

"The Better Class of Pharmacists" who dispense Mentholized Arcine say it will greatly modify any attack even when taken three or four days after hostilities begin.

Go to a real live druggist when you get ready to make a pint.

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

If Your Nerves Are Shaky Because of Over-Indulgence in Tobacco or Alcohol or by Excess of Any Kind, Bio-Feren Is What You Need. Right Away.

Don't grow old before your time. Don't let nervousness wreck your happiness or chances in life. The man with strong, steady nerves is full of vigor, energy, ambition and confidence.

You can have nerves of steel, firm step, new courage and keep mind by putting your blood and nerves in first-class shape with mighty Bio-Feren, a new discovery, inexpensive and efficient.

Men and women who get up so tired in the morning that they have to drag themselves to their daily labor will in just a few days arise with clear mind, definite purpose and loads of ambition.

All you have to do is to take two Bio-Feren tablets after each meal and one at bedtime—7 a day for 7 days—then reduce to one after each meal until all are gone.

Then if your energy and endurance haven't doubled, if your mind isn't keener and eyes brighter, if you don't feel twice as ambitious as before, any druggist anywhere will return the purchase price—gladly and freely.

Bio-Feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, run-down, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

Exhibit of Great Interest Showing Value of Conservation is Shown at State Fair.

Indiana's new department of conservation, created April 1, 1919 is represented at the state fair, Sept. 1-6, by an exhibit of great interest and variety. Under the direction of Richard Lieber, director, the five divisions of the department bent every effort to bring the work and importance of the department to the attention of the public.

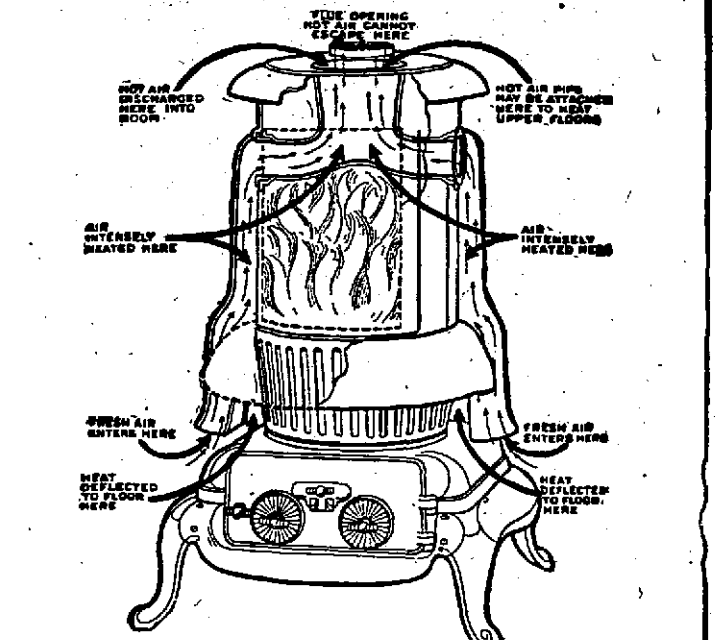

The division of fish and game has have on exhibit the many types of fish which are to be found in Indiana waters. In addition there will be specimens of the many species of wild game which inhabit our woods. Here will be the headquarters for fishermen and hunters where it may be safely predicted one will hear stories of the enormous fish which shipped off the hook and of stupendous bags of game which have been brought in. In the building will be found the division of geology, where there will be on exhibit samples of Indiana minerals such as limestone, coal and clay. Information on all geological questions such as soil composition, clay for bricks, oil drilling and gas districts will be available.

Nearly in the well-known forestry building is the divisions of forestry, entomology and lands and waters. Here are specimens of the various kinds of wood common to Indiana, with information as to their uses. The state forester and his assistant will be on hand to answer questions on all phases of forestry such as planting and care of shade trees, selling timber, growing fence posts and the teaching of forestry.

The entomologist also has on exhibit the great numbers of insects and diseases affecting Indiana crops. Here you will probably find a specimen of that particular pest which has been causing trouble in your field and garden all season and with it you will find how you can fight it. On the outside will be set up approved types of bee hives and samples of the varied paraphernalia of the bee keeper. This division has spent considerable effort on a campaign for improving the bee keeping industry of the state. Experts in this line will be present to talk to people interested in this line of work.

The division of lands and waters commissioned Indiana's most prominent nature photographer to photograph the great variety of scenic beauty to be found in Indiana's state parks. These pictures are on exhibit in the forestry building and will be a rare treat to those who have not taken the opportunity to visit the state parks at Turkey Run and McCormick's Creek Canyon. These two tracts are preserved for their wild beauty and visited by thousands annually. They form the nucleus of a great chain of state parks which will be built up
